Economist Raps Steel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration struck hard Saturday at a new increase in steel prices. Its spokesman added some barbs for recent auto wage hikes—and got in another plug for a tax increase.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, read grave inflationary impact into a boost in sheet-steel prices and into labor contracts reached by Ford and Chrysler with the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers union.

He called in a statement for "a return to more responsible behavior on wages and prices by both labor and management."

U.S. Steel announced Friday an increase of $5 a ton—about 3.4 per cent—on two grades of steel sheets. These types are widely used in consumer products from automobiles to small home appliances and such a raw-material price increase could be reflected quite quickly at the retail level.

Other steel producers have not announced their plans but "Big Steel" is the industry's largest corporate unit and normally is the bellwether on prices.

A steel-price increase unjustified at this time but the industry's "costs and prices are already too high—not too low."

The economist acknowledged that 1967 has been a disappointing year on the profit side for the steel industry but said 1968 promises to be much better.

An answer in prices is not the answer for the industry, he said, because:

"The way for steel to solve its problem is not to raise its prices but to lower its costs through improved technology and productivity."

Linking the steel-price hike and the recently fashioned auto wage pattern—Ackley called them equally disturbing.

Government estimates of the magnitude of this settlement place its cost at about 5 3/4 per cent year—and more than 6 1/4 per cent year if the cost-of-living allowance reached the maximum permitted under the contract.

"The fact that the highly profitable automobile industry can afford such increases is beside the point. Industry generally affords them without higher prices."

Apparently taking note of recent increases in the prices of new cars and the speculation that steel costs might bring another advance, Ackley said:

"Given the high level of auto industry profits and the trend of the productivity advance, it is hard to see why a price increase is necessary."

Small Alabama Community Hit By Wind Storm

FRISCO CITY, Ala. (AP) — A howling tornado ravaged the small Monroe County town of Frisco City Saturday. State troopers reported by radio that the business section was demolished and much of the residential area destroyed.

The state trooper post at Evansville said the only communication with the blacked-out town were through patrol car radios, but troopers and National Guardsmen combing the streets had found no one with serious injuries.

Red Gunners Hit Green Beret Post

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners renewed their assault on a Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border Saturday night, firing rockets, mortars and bullets into the Green Beret compound and at U.S. 1st Infantry Division reinforcements.

The new attack on the Bu Dop camp, 80 miles north of Saigon, came after a two-day lull in the fighting.

A U.S. spokesman said eight Special Forces troopers were wounded in the first of two mortar barrages that hit the outpost three miles from the Cambodian border.

At the same time, the North Vietnamese and guerrilla mortars hurled shells into field positions of the battalion of the 1st Division that had moved in Wednesday to reinforce the camp. A spokesman said the infantrymen suffered no casualties.

From Communist China there was an accusation Saturday that U.S. pilots made a "savage" dive-bombing attack on a Chinese freighter in a North Vietnamese port near Haiphong. It said eight Chinese crewmen were wounded.

The official New China News Agency said bombs exploded above the water 11 yards from the freighter Hongkai No. 154 on Nov. 25 and damaged the vessel in 20 places as she lay at anchor at Hong Gai, 18 miles north of Haiphong.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said officials are looking into the report. There was no comment in Saigon.

The U.S. Command had reported Nov. 25 that American pilots raided a naval dispersal area 39 miles east of Haiphong and about nine miles east of Hong Gai.

North Vietnam's foreign minister, Nguyen Duy Trinh, said repeated U.S. attacks on foreign days of sharp fighting had freighters in Vietnamese waters raised the threat of a major assault on the thousands of North Vietnamese troops camped in the area. But U.S. Marine defenders reported no new battles along the DMZ.

Relative quiet was reported in the central highlands around the North and South, where two

Makarios Leaves Cyprus Gap Open

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greece announced Saturday night it had reached agreement with Turkey to end the Cyprus crisis, but U.S. special envoy Cyrus R. Vance was still trying to persuade President Makarios of Cyprus to accept the settlement.

Speculation arose immediately on what tactical impact the Athens announcement may have on Makarios' holdout position.

Makarios, a bearded Greek Orthodox archbishop, objected to Turkish demands that he has rejected for the past four years and would not accept the six-point peace plan designed to prevent a Greek-Turkish war over this island of intercommunal conflict.

The peace package has been accepted by Greece and Turkey but is causing widespread protest from the Greek Cypriot majority.

With hopes of a quick settlement of the Cyprus crisis fading, Greece's military regime announced agreement had been reached and the communists said the same announcement was made in Ankara, the Turkish capital.

The Greek Foreign Ministry said both Greece and Turkey would gradually withdraw troops they had illegally stationed on Cyprus. It said the relatively small contingents allowed on Cyprus by the 1959-60 Zurich accord would remain.

Vance, who returned to Nicosia for more talks late Friday night, conferred with Makarios until shortly after midnight.

Discussions were resumed seven hours later. Following an afternoon break, talks continued Saturday night.

A dispatch from Athens said the Greek government appeared deeply concerned during the day that objections by Makarios might wreck the Greek-Turkish peace accord.

The official New China News Agency said bombs exploded above the water 11 yards from the freighter Hongkai No. 154 on Nov. 25 and damaged the vessel in 20 places as she lay at anchor at Hong Gai, 18 miles north of Haiphong.

Plan $4 Billion Spending Snip

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration intends to put its plan for $4.1 billion worth of spending cuts into effect without special authority from Congress and regardless of the fate of the 10 per cent tax surcharge.

It's already under a congressional mandate to cut $1.5 billion of the cuts it proposes.

"Everything points to it," one source said Saturday when asked whether the spending cuts would go into effect without the special legislation requested from Congress.

But even with the cuts, spending will still be higher in the fiscal year which ends next June 30 than President Johnson contemplated last January when he submitted his 1968 budget to Congress.

Spending is now projected at $136.2 billion for the year compared with the $135 billion estimated in January. High interest rates could swell the deficit—already figured at the highest level since World War II even if the added surcharge revenue is included.

From all indications, the administration lost its battle during the days of hearings by the House Ways and Means Committee last week for quick approval of the surcharge and a formal directive for spending cuts.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee, said he wants more information on future government spending before asking his committee to consider the surcharge.

Although Johnson's budget for the next fiscal year isn't scheduled to reach Congress until late January or early February, key officials normally carry on regular discussions behind the scenes with both the Ways and Means and Appropriations committees.

McCarthy's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination Saturday and said President Johnson's leadership is sounding in America "a message of apprehension, a message of fear."

The Minnesota senator appealed for a return to "the promise of greatness" he said was offered by Adlai E. Stevenson and President John F. Kennedy.

"In place of disunity, let us have hope," McCarthy said in his first speech as a candidate for the White House.

The senator announced Thursday he will challenge Johnson's re-nomination in April, perhaps six presidential primaries.

Spellman Suffers Cerebral Seizure

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, who looked like a cherub but spoke with authority as senior prince of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, died Saturday after a "massive cerebral accident." He was 78.

Cardinal Spellman experienced some "difficultly" following a surprise appearance at a charity dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Friday night.

Members of his household discovered his illness Saturday morning. He died at 11:45 a.m., less than two hours after he was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in Manhattan.

A church spokesman said "cerebral accident" was a term used by the doctors, who said it meant a "stroke."

The Most Rev. John J. Maguire, 62, coadjutor archbishop of New York, was appointed administrator of the archdiocese Saturday night.

He was named by the 18-member board of consultants of the archdiocese, made up of bishops and monsignors, which met at the cardinal's residence shortly after his death to name a temporary overseer for the diocese.

His appointment will run until Pope Paul VI names a successor to Cardinal Spellman.

Bishop Maguire announced that the body of Cardinal Spellman will lie in state in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue, starting sometime Sunday.

Cardinal Spellman was dean of American cardinals and archbishops of New York since 1959. He headed the church's richest diocese.

He was a fervent theological conservative, a militant anti-Communist, an ardent patriot, a tireless fund raiser, an efficient administrator, and a firm disciplinarian and moralist.

His annual Christmas visits to American forces around the world were legendary. On one of his visits, he was the first passenger from Europe to go through the process. Department of Agriculture agents asked the arrivals to take the precaution if they had been in rural areas in England where there is an epidemic of hoof and mouth disease.

Industry Readies Use Of Nuclear Explosion

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — Technicians worked Saturday to seal a 4,240-foot-deep hole as final preparations got under way for the first industrial use of a nuclear explosion.

Barring further delays a 26-kiloton "peace bomb," with the power of 26,000 tons of high explosive, is to be detonated 55 miles east of Farmington Wednesday in a remote area of the Carson National Forest in northern New Mexico.

The explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, is to help determine whether such detonations can help free natural gas from tight rock formations from which it otherwise could not be obtained economically. The Atomic Energy Commission, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the U.S. Bureau of Mines, joint sponsor of the $4.7-million Gasbuggy, which the AEC says is the first industrial use of a nuclear explosion.

The nuclear device, enclosed in a 13 1/2-foot canister, has been lowered 4,240 feet, just below the gas-bearing, fractured Spinks Rock formation which Spinks Rock formation is typical of low-permeability, "tight" formations in the West. It has been estimated that if the nuclear explosion technique works in such formations, the nation's natural gas reserves could be doubled.

The 18 1/2-inch-diameter hole was being filled up to 700 feet below the surface with cement. Above that was to be 650 feet of a special sand which packs tightly and the final 50 feet was to be filled with polymer to act as a sealing substance.

The giant rig which drilled the hole was being removed from the ground zero area, as were trailers and other unnecessary equipment. Because of the depth of the detonation, AEC spokesmen say no crater around ground zero is expected. But they do not discount what they say is a slim possibility that some radioactive materials might escape from the hole.

AEC spokesmen say that on the morning of the test all persons within a five-mile radius of ground zero except for the test directors, who will be about two miles away, aircraft will hover near the test area to check the atmosphere for radioactivity.

U.S. Public Health Service teams will be at strategic areas to direct evacuations should there be a significant radioactivity leak. The nearest community, Dulce, is 15 miles away.

CHICAGO (AP) — An Iowa farm machinery salesman arrived at O'Hare International Airport Saturday and stepped into a pan containing a soda ash solution.

State Delegation Backs McCarthy Presidential Bid

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois delegation of the Conference of Concerned Democrats unanimously approved Saturday a resolution endorsing Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., as a presidential candidate in 1968.

The voice vote came during a two-day conference being held in Chicago by several hundred delegates, virtually all of whom are Democrats and sharply critical of President Johnson's policy in Vietnam.

McCarthy announced Thursday that he would oppose Johnson in four state primaries next year and possibly six. He was scheduled to address the conference Saturday night.

In the afternoon he appeared before the delegates and participated in a question and answer session. One delegate from Illinois asked McCarthy if his plans for next summer included entering the state's non-binding presidential primary.

McCarthy replied: "We really haven't excluded any state. But we're most concerned with primaries that provide a national test."

Following the session with McCarthy each state delegation held a caucus. During the Illinois caucus the members held the voice vote endorsing McCarthy.

McCarthy Opens Bid With Talk On 'BJ'

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy embarked on his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination Saturday and said President Johnson's leadership is sounding in America "a message of apprehension, a message of fear."

The Minnesota senator appealed for a return to "the promise of greatness" he said was offered by Adlai E. Stevenson and President John F. Kennedy.

"In place of disunity, let us have hope," McCarthy said in his first speech as a candidate for the White House.

The senator announced Thursday he will challenge Johnson's re-nomination in April, perhaps six presidential primaries.

The text McCarthy prepared for the Conference of Concerned Democrats did not mention his own candidacy but stressed the platform on which he is running: opposition to Johnson's policy in the Vietnam war.

Parachutes For Planes

That was a strange sight the other day at Lakehurst, N.J.: the wings of a plane flying at around 5,000 feet suddenly blew off, a great parachute blossomed, and the fuselage drifted to a safe landing. It was the first airborne test of a method that may someday save even large commercial airliners from disaster.

The system is a long ways from that stage at present. The Lakehurst test did prove, however, that the method is basically feasible.

One promising aspect of the situation is that the wings of a big transport may account for as much as 60 per cent of the plane's total weight. Thus blowing off the wings with a controlled blast would greatly reduce the burden on the chute, and the wings themselves would be buoyed by individual chutes.

Obviously more research and development work is necessary. Only a system that for practical purposes was failure-proof could ever be approved for use. But the chances now appear good that the method can soon be perfected.

Records And Columns

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen has signed up to write a newspaper column — a column, as the announcement put it, "of comment on public policy and American tradition." The presumption is that, having scored a notable success at making popular records, he looked for new worlds to conquer and decided on this one.

Dirksen is not the only public figure of some eminence who has tried for a hit record. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, it will be remembered, ground out a platter with the avowed purpose of making money to pay certain highly publicized obligations. More recently, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has gotten into the act with something along patriotic lines.

Dirksen's progression from record-making to punditry, however, raises some questions about how far elected officials can properly go down this road. What's to prevent half the members of Congress from busying themselves with such ventures? The prospect of such a spectacle is not one that arouses our enthusiasm.

Naming A Bridge

Missouri and Illinois officials have been unable to agree on a name for a newly opened bridge which carries interstate expressways over the Mississippi river at St. Louis. The bridge cost 131 million dollars.

The best suggestion for a name has come from Karl Monroe, an Illinois College grad now editor of the Collinsville Herald. He proposes that the bridge be called "U.S. Grant" because of the many federal grants for such projects. A further good reason is that Gen. U.S. Grant was a resident, at various times, of both Illinois and Missouri. And a further reason is that he deserves more commemoration than he has received.

Season Of Temptation

This is the season that puts will power to the acid test. The fat of the land who would like to be thinner might as well reconcile themselves to it: with the Thanksgiving orgy just past, there remain weeks of cruel temptation. No respite can be expected until the old year has been ushered out.

This is not entirely a dismal thought, granted — and that is precisely the danger. Natural inclination to take second helpings and snack between meals suffers a delightful assault. Hospitality and holiday goodies besiege one on every side. It takes a strong will to resist. All we can say is: Courage, men — and ladies, too!

The Day Of A President--Upstaged By People-ometer

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The President of the United States was lauding the virtues of the most productive nation in the world when suddenly he noticed he was losing his audience.

Murmurs swept the crowd, and eyes were directed elsewhere.

Clockwatching, bane of many a boss, had caught up with the Chief Executive.

The occasion was the turnover to the 200 million mark on the population clock in the lobby of the Commerce Department building. In the midst of ceremony and political high muckety-muck, the main reason for the occasion almost went unnoticed.

Gearred to the most recent averages, the people - o-meter was dutifully recording the increase in the nation's head count, ticking off a birth every 8 1/2 seconds, the arrival of an immigrant every 60 seconds, and the departure of an emigrant every 23 minutes. Unknown to the speaker, but known to his audience the magic mark was well-nigh.

Then all nine digits rolled over and applause interrupted his remarks. When the excitement had died down, the President continued, now leader of an official 200 million countrymen.

BEWARE THE BITE of the watchdogs of society!

White House press briefings can be charged with excitement if the news is breaking, or they can be a bloody bore. If it's the latter, the cluster of newsmen and presidential press Secretary George Christian sometimes engage in what might be described as verbal calisthenics.

A recent midday briefing was a case in point. Presidential luncheon dates, speeches and appearances scheduled, governmental nitty-gritty. Christian obviously had nothing to say; reporters had nothing to write.

Newsmen began reaching. Was it true Gen. Westmoreland is on his way out? Had Christian heard anything about a new bombing pause?

And best of all, might a cancelled luncheon date with a high military official leader mean the President and he had experienced a falling-out?

The spark caught hold. Christian's answers were not sufficiently convincing. Ears perked up, ballpoint pens clicked and more questions flew.

His demeanor bordering on irritation, the press secretary finally insisted the ladies and gentlemen of the press were reaching to the ceiling ventilators for something that just wasn't there. A luncheon date had been postponed due to complicated scheduling, and that was that.

Class dismissed. Better luck next time, fellas.

"You never know," muttered a veteran Fourth Estater on his way out.

AMATEUR AUGURERS who seek meaning in the trivia of life may wrestle with this disclosure from a pair of California game manufacturers.

Inventors of the new board game called "Election '68" recently sent samples of their creation to high-ranking politicians who were included in the miniature presidential contest.

On the mailing list were Jacob Javits, Nelson Rockefeller, President Johnson, Ronald Reagan, George Romney, Richard Nixon, John Lindsay, Charles Percy, J. W. Fulbright, Robert Kennedy and others.

Personal signed acknowledgments came back from most of them except that Nixon did not reply, and Gov. Reagan's staff requested several more copies of the game. Sen. Eugene McCarthy came on too late to even be included on the board.

Nixon: Congress' Ear Attentive

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Richard M. Nixon quietly slipped into town Thanksgiving week and, to no one's surprise, scored a smashing triumph at a hugely attended breakfast of the House Republican conference.

House GOP officials had 140 written acceptances for the affair, and before he began talking others had drifted into the room and were lining the walls.

Nixon's high status with members of the House and Senate has, of course, been widely assumed, but it was never more in evidence than at the breakfast. It is being helped along, incidentally, by liaison work done by a new addition to Nixon's Washington campaign staff, Donald Jackson, former congressman from California.

Significantly, however, Nixon captivated House Republicans not with the kind of specifics that are their daily bread but with highly generalized comment about Vietnam, America's position in Asia, Europe, Africa and Latin America, the dilemma of the cities, the country's need for new leadership.

Says one friend: "It was kind of cloudy and vapory but it went over well."

Indeed, Republicans on Capitol Hill generally seem to accept the idea that Nixon and other 1968 GOP presidential prospects should keep very loose and flexible on the major issues—at least in the early stages.

This notion is said to have been a considerable factor on the decision by Sen. John Tower of Texas not to become Nixon's campaign manager when that post was vacated in 1968 by Henry Bellmon, former governor of Oklahoma who seeks a U.S. Senate seat there next year.

It was clear that as "Nixon's man," Tower would appear to be a stand-in for the former vice president in the Senate, and that the Texan's major 1968 votes there would be examined microscopically as like expressions of Nixon's own views. The prospect of boxing Nixon in began to look very real.

Tower, of course, had other problems on his mind. One is the demand on his time. The same factor that led Bellmon to seek release from the Nixon chairmanship earlier than he first intended. Ideally, it is a heavy duty job.

Moreover, Tower is intricately bound up in the politics of his home state. Top Texas Republicans are thinking big for 1968, hopeful of winning more seats in Congress and the state legislature and, since the announcement that the popular Gov. John Connally will not run again, of taking that chair.

To these hopes, the long-talked-of favorite son candidacy of John Tower is seen in key Texas circles as crucial.

It could provide the cement of party unity in a situation that might otherwise crumble into serious factionalism—some of it inherent, some of it related to the obvious rivalry between forces favoring Nixon and those pressing for Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

GOP State Chairman Peter O'Donnell, publicly non-committal but privately accepted as a staunch Nixon advocate, appears to have been among those key Texans who argued that for Tower to take on the heavy-duty

Nixon chairmanship would be to handicap seriously the favorite son-unity gambit regarded as central to the party's best hopes in the state next year.

The weight of all factors finally led Tower to say "no" to an offer that had first been extended to Bellmon in early October.

Bellmon, who wanted to quit in early January, will stay on until the Nixon forces find another replacement. In any event, however, his commitment ends with the April 2 Wisconsin primary, after which he will be wholly taken up with his own campaign in Oklahoma.

Ann Landers:

Comparisons Meaningless

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the woman who always compared her children. I have a problem that is worse. My mother keeps comparing me to herself.

When I brought home my last report card my mother said, "So you got a D in arithmetic! I never got a D in my life." Well, maybe she didn't, but they probably worked with Roman numerals when she was in school.

Last week I had to have a pair of boots. They cost $16. My mother gave a 30-minute lecture on how it was when she was my age. She said her mother fed a family of five for a week on less than $16. Talk like this can make a kid feel real crummy. It's not my fault times have changed. Please straighten the older generation out, will you, Ann?—OUT OF TOUCH

Dear Out: O.K. Stuff some cotton in your ears, kids. This message is for your parents:

Dear Fellow Antiques: The one phrase that kids simply don't want to hear is, "When I was your age." In the first place they don't believe you ever were. In the second place they couldn't care less about how it was. Comparisons are not only boring, they are meaningless.

It's a different world today than when you and I were growing up. While our kids have it easier in some ways, they have it tougher in others. One thing is for certain. I'm glad I'm not in high school today. I don't think I could make it.

Dear Ann Landers: The gentleman I have been going with for several years says a man and woman do not need a legal ceremony in order to be man and wife in the eyes of God. He claims many people who go together treat one another better and are more faithful than a great many married folks. According to him the ceremony is a mockery and he doesn't want any part of it. Please express yourself.—SILVER THREADS AMONG THE GOLD

Dear Goldie: It is true that some people who go together treat one another better and are more faithful than a great many folks who are married, but this does not mean that marriage is a mockery.

In our culture marriage is a part of the social structure. It also has built-in legal safeguards which can prove mighty helpful, particularly when there are children. No home should be without it.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for your advice to the neighbor who wanted to know what to do about the seven-year-old girl who was being beaten repeatedly by her parents. Every time I read a story like that I cry my eyes out.

A person who has not experienced these episodes can't imagine what goes on in the minds of and hearts of these unfortunate kids. Although I was only seven when I was removed from my parents' home I can still remember those beatings as if they were yesterday.

Please print my letter as another reminder to those who may be inclined to close their eyes to such situations simply because they don't want to become involved. Abused children need your help. They are powerless to help themselves.—FOR-MER VICTIM

Dear Victor: Thanks for writing and now I'll repeat my advice: Call the police or the child welfare agency the moment the beatings begin. Parents have a hard time denying the charges in court if the authorities testify that they witnessed the brutality.

Yesterday In Old Virginia

By GRACE T. HOLMES

VIRGINIA — Dr. Henry Hammond Hall, born in Ireland and educated for a doctor in Scotland, came to this country early in 1830. He first lived in the state of Virginia, where he married his wife. They came by boat to Beardstown and by horseback to this prairie land. Dr. Hall wanted to name it "Hallville" but his wife insisted on calling it "Virginia" and she won out.

This was government land and could be "purchased for a song and sing it yourself." He bought a large tract on which he laid out the town of Virginia.

On a lot east of the north-east corner of the square and which is now owned by Mrs. Frances Dodds, he built a small story and a half frame house. It was painted red and was built flush with the city walk. Here on June 19, 1834, his first son, Robert Hall, was born and was the first white child born in Virginia.

This was not to be a "boom" town, but grew gradually as settlers began coming in and building their log cabin homes. In time, small frame homes appeared and men started country grocery stores, churches were built and also schools.

Dust, dust, dust. One thing hard for the housewife to cope with was the dust.

"WE ROB BANKS"

Clyde was the leader. Bonnie wrote poetry. C. W. was a Myrna Loy fan who had a bluebird tattooed on his chest. Buck told corny jokes and carried a Kodak. Blanche was a preacher's daughter who kept her fingers in her ears during the gunfights. They played checkers and photographed each other incessantly. On Sunday nights, they listened to Eddie Cantor on the radio. All in all, they killed 18 people. They were the strangest damned gang you ever heard of.

Greene Red Cross Collects $6,422 To Exceed Quota

CARROLLTON — The Greene County Chapter Red Cross workers collected $6,422.01 to exceed their quota of $6,400 according to an announcement made Monday evening by Miss Ruth Mellor, field representative, at a meeting held in Carrollton.

Miss Mellor also presented to Mrs. Frank Greer of Greenfield, acting county Red Cross chairman, a citation from the American National Red Cross honoring the chapter for 50 years of humanitarian service.

A road block which netted $450.30 in the Roodhouse Red Cross fund drive area, put the county chapter over the top. Total amount collected in Roodhouse and Patterson was $1,126.21.

The Carrollton area including Carrollton, Bluffdale, Kane, Linder and Woodville collected $2,434.16; the Greenfield area including North Rockbridge and Rubicon, South Rockbridge, Athensville and Wrights collected $1,235.24 and the White Hall area including White Hall, Hillview and Walkerville collected $1,633.40.

Of the total amount raised in the fund drive the Greene county chapter will retain 58.23% and the National Red Cross will receive 41.77%. The amount retained in the county chapter treasury will be used in emergencies, to pay the salary of the secretary, office expenses, expenses of the visits of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile and telephone bills which are quite large in view of the fact that so many calls are made to the Red Cross field directors in and out of the United States at the present time.

Greene county has also completed its blood quota of 309 pints but the financial part of the blood program is lagging. Pints of blood needed in the county in 1968 is 606. The 1968 fund drive goal is $6,479 and plans for this drive will be made at the January 15 meeting of the Red Cross workers.

An election of officers was not held Monday evening and it was voted to ask Robert Cunningham of White Hall, present county Red Cross chairman to hold the office till July 1, 1968 when the annual election will be held.

An announcement was made that the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in the county January 9, March 12 and June 12 in 1968.

MRS. HOOD IS HOSTESS FOR PIKE FELLOWSHIP GROUP

PITTSFIELD — Mrs. Horace Hood was hostess recently to members of the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational church.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Kent Sanderson and the program on social action was presented by Mrs. Frank Hagan.

The church Christmas program will be presented on the regular family night, Wednesday, Dec. 20. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hood and Attorney and Mrs. Paul Grote will be hosts.

Folksinger Found Beaten, Possible Robbery Attempt

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Folksinger Jimmie Rodgers was found unconscious and beaten seriously along a freeway early Friday, his personal physician said Saturday night.

Dr. William L. Donham said Rodgers, 33, apparently had been attacked with a blunt instrument in what may have been a robbery attempt.

After being treated at his Woodland Hills home, Rodgers complained of amnesia and severe headaches. He was taken to Glendale Community Hospital where X-rays Saturday showed a four-inch fracture at the back of his head.

Rodgers' publicity man, James Fitzgerald, said the actor-singer will be hospitalized at least four weeks.

The attack followed a late evening out, Christmas shopping and dining with a friend.

Eddie Samuels, accompanist for singer Eddie Fisher, said he and Rodgers were returning to Rodgers' home in separate cars but that Samuels drove off the wrong ramp. When Rodgers didn't arrive at his home soon, Samuels drove back and discovered his friend.

Rodgers' car was off the San Diego freeway, apparently pushed by his attacker, Fitzgerald said.

The Weather Elsewhere

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS STATE

Snow, rain and strong winds teamed up Saturday to dampen most sections of the state and give further proof that the official start of winter isn't far off.

The Weather Bureau issued hazardous driving warnings for most of northern Illinois while snow dusted much of west central Illinois and as far north as Moline.

The nasty weather was part of a storm that moved out of the southern Rocky Mountains.

Forecasters predicted some parts of the state would be whitened by as much as three inches of snow before the storm moved out of the area.

North to northeasterly winds at 15 to 30 miles per hour that gusted higher made driving in snow-struck areas quite hazardous.

Winter begins officially Dec. 22.

Late afternoon temperatures ranged from the 30s in the north to the 40s and 50s in southern sections and the 60s in the extreme south where southeasterly winds prevailed.

Som temperatures were Chicago and Vandalia 38, Champaign 37, Moline and Quincy 35, and Peoria, Rockford and Springfield 33.

Neither a reinforcing battalion from the U.S. 1st Infantry Division nor a mixed Viet Cong-North Vietnamese force moved to take the offensive around the Bu Dop Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border 80 miles north of Saigon. Large Communist groups maneuvered around the Bu Dop air strip Friday night, but there was no renewal of the fighting that had occurred earlier last week.

Makarios Lankford Rites At Scott Church

Informed Greek Cypriot sources here termed the overall effect of the package plan as amounting to a realization of the long-standing Turkish aim to partition the island between its Greek-speaking majority and its Turkish minority.

The package deal was hammered out by Vance in a quick succession of air trips between Athens and Ankara, Turkey's capital, earlier in the week.

Its main points: — The withdrawal of 12,000 Greek and 1,200 Turkish troops that arrived in Cyprus illegally following the outbreak of intercommunal fighting in December 1963.

— The demobilization of the Turkish invasion force poised on the Turkish coast, accompanied by a Turkish guarantee of the island's integrity and a return to the status quo on the island before the flashpoint on Nov. 15.

— Compensation for Turkish victims of the attack on the villages hit by the Greek attack on Nov. 15. Twenty-five Turks were killed.

— Reduction of the Greek Cypriot national guard troops and military police units, now estimated to number 10,000 to 15,000, down to 2,000.

— Recognition of the existence of separate Turkish Cypriot police and Turkish Cypriot self-government in the Turkish Cypriot enclaves scattered about the island.

— Widening the powers of the 4,500-man United Nations Peace Force on the island.

Greek Cypriot sources claimed that President Makarios had no objections to the first three points but had expressed strong reservations to the last three after his first meeting with Vance Wednesday and Thursday.

Condemn LBJ

It also welcomed the decision of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D. Minn., to become a candidate for next year's Democratic presidential nomination.

The committee said McCarthy's action opened the door to a free debate of issues, and applauded his "courage in placing the welfare of the nation and the party ahead of personal political safety."

Some 300 delegates turned out for the organizational meeting to hear a speech by Zolton Ferency, lame-duck Democratic state chairman, and to hear a talk by McCarthy via a special telephone hookup to Chicago.

Leaders of the dissident group have indicated that they do not intend to bolt from the Democratic party but rather to work within the traditional two-party structure.

FIRE DAMAGES PARKED VEHICLE

Fire damaged an automobile owned by Irwin J. Buchheim of 1418 S. East shortly before 9 a.m. Saturday.

Buchheim told city firemen that the car, parked in the 1100 block of S. Main St., broke out in flames under the hood after he started it.

The blaze was extinguished with a pressurized water can and caused considerable damage to the wiring. The auto was towed from the scene.

GREENE MOTORIST GIVEN $150 FINE — On November 30, in the Circuit Court of Greene County, John E. Hall of White Hall entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

On the recommendation of State's Attorney, Jack A. Alfeld, he was fined $150 and costs.

Mrs. Norton At Convention For Teachers

Mrs. Evangeline Norton, teacher at Turner junior high school attended a convention of the National Council of Teachers of English over the Thanksgiving holidays in Honolulu.

Mrs. Norton lived in Honolulu for several years during the 1940's and taught in public and private schools there.

The NCTE is the world's largest subject matter organization for teachers with a membership of more than 125,000.

Some 3,000 members were present for the 57th annual meeting in Honolulu.

Among the speakers at the convention were Carlos P. Romulo, secretary of education of the Philippines; Dr. Albert Markwardt, professor at Princeton; and novelist J. S. Samsyn West.

In addition to the educational convention, Mrs. Norton visited a few old friends who still reside on the Islands.

'Technicalities' Delay Public Housing Plans

JERSEYVILLE — The next meeting of the local Planning Commission will be held December 28 at which time James Garver, general planning resource consultant for the City of Jerseyville, is to present a plan for the future growth of Jerseyville.

At a meeting of the Jersey County Housing Authority, held recently, a petition to rezone two tracts of land for public housing was not heard following its presentation due to legal technicalities.

The petition presented could not be heard until the expiration of a 15-day period from the date of publication in a local newspaper. The notice in question appeared November 16.

The petition also described two tracts of land, the Healy and Steckel properties, which technically calls for the submission of two separate petitions, according to Adolph Schultz, secretary and treasurer of the local authority.

Another date, January 4, 1968 has been set, at which time the planning commission will hear the petition when filed in proper form, Schultz reported.

Following the dismissal of the petition presented, other property was offered by land owners as a site for construction of housing for the elderly. No prices were named.

Block-Off Area Of City Saturday After Gas Leak

Several blocks in the northeast section of town were sealed off to traffic Saturday while crews from the Illinois Power Company repaired a break in an underground natural gas line.

The break was discovered shortly after 7:30 a.m. in an alley that runs between the 1400 block of East Lafayette and Center Streets.

City police were notified along with the power company and barricades were set up in the immediate vicinity to keep vehicle and pedestrian traffic away from the spot of the break, and prevent any serious occurrence.

Fire Chief Dale Bond was also summoned as a precautionary measure, although there was no fire. The cause of the break was not immediately known.

The power crews dug into the ground at two locations, both about a block away from the point of the break. The flow of gas was stopped at those points, permitting entrance into the ground at the site of the break.

A tapping machine was used to seal off the main and a new clamp was placed on it. An Illinois Power spokesman said only about three or four customers were affected when the flow of gas was stopped.

Complete repairs were completed by mid-afternoon.

THREE ACCIDENTS OCCUR IN CITY ON SATURDAY

Mrs. Anna O. Schroetter, 39, of Winchester, was treated for head and neck injuries at Holy Cross hospital following a one-car accident at the intersection of W. College and Lockwood at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Schroetter told city police her brakes failed as she was driving east on College and her vehicle struck a utility pole. A passing motorist took her to the hospital, and her heavily damaged car was towed from the scene.

FRANKLIN MUSIC CLUB TO RETAIN INCUMBENT SLATE

Members of the Franklin Music club, meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Negus, voted unanimously to retain the 1967 officers for another year. The following program was presented "Bless This House," a vocal duet by Mrs. Grace Davenport and Mrs. Vella Rees, accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Negus; a reading, "Now November," by Mrs. Dorothy Negus and "Without A Song," "Sunrise, Sunset" and "Born Free" with Mrs. Negus as soloist. Mrs. Grace Davenport closed the program with a series of readings. Refreshments were then served. The next meeting will be held Dec. 16 at the home of Mrs. Grace Davenport.

One of the nicest things to know about an ace is that you don't have to play it at the first opportunity. Banks may lend money on aces, but they pay no interest on tricks that are taken earlier than necessary.

South wasted no time taking the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts. Then he led a diamond to his queen. East played the seven and West allowed the queen to hold but was careful to grab the second diamond lead.

West played the jack of hearts. East overtook with his king and led a trump. South went up with his ace, entered dummy with the ace of clubs and led a third diamond. East was mean enough to ruff, and the best South could do was to overruff and run out all his trumps slowly and carefully, but to no avail. There was nothing he could do about his last heart.

Had South bothered to think a little at trick one (which is the best time to think), he would have let the defense win the first heart trick. If hearts were continued, South would have time to ruff his third heart. If East overtook and led a trump, South would be in almost the same situation as if he had won that first trick. The difference would be that dummy's ace of hearts would be an extra entry.

The play would proceed with East leading a trump at trick two. South could win and lead a diamond. Assuming that West were smart enough to duck the first diamond and win the second, his best play would be to knock out dummy's ace of

Divorce Doesn't End Dad's Responsibility to Daughter

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: At 4 a.m. last Saturday my husband's ex-wife phoned to tell him that their 14-year-old girl had not come home. He had to get up and take the car to look for her. He finally found her in a motel with a boy. Mrs. Lawrence, his chief reason for divorcing the mother was her over-indulgence of this girl. Now that she is entirely out of control, this woman is driving him crazy with demands that he do something about her. But he was never allowed to deny her her own way when she was a small child.

ANSWER: "Allowed?"

You think this as a most unjust situation, don't you? Well, I don't. I think that fathers who "allow" wives to overindulge children are also overindulgers. And so make themselves equally responsible for the consequences to the child. Nor does divorce alter this unpleasant truth. Though legal arrangements can free submissive husbands from dictating wives, divorce cannot release them from the fact that they have fathered a child.

So this situation is not unjust. It is merely insiting that your husband is the father of this troubled child.

In face, it's a kind situation. Here's this husband of yours who "allowed" his ex-wife to stomp all over his fatherhood out of fear of her superior strength. But she's not strong at all, is she? Like all dictators, she's a weakling. Now by these persisting confessions of helplessness to control her child, she is saying so. She's telling your husband what he should have known long ago—that her dictating strength was a fraud.

She's licked, this so-powerful woman who compelled your husband to defer to her discipline views. So you'll both be highly intelligent to know it and use her admissions of helplessness to arrange psychiatric treatment for the girl. The mother won't fight it. She's done for, poor thing.

LEG WATCHERS will have more to see with these clear shoes with see-through heels. Attached silver hosiery of metallic yarn makes things extra bright. Ensemble is creation of Herbert Levine.

They won't fight it. She's done for, poor thing.

Will you support your husband's purchase of psychiatric help for the child? I hope so and not just for the child's sake. For otherwise this incorrigibility will increase. And your own future as the wife of a delinquent girl's father will not be an enviable one.

Of course, you can always take a plane to Alaska. However, another evasion of your husband's paternal responsibility would be a poor solution. For in the end, we take ourselves with us wherever we run to and with us awareness of mistakes we have made.

Falcons Still Nest In Canadian Wilderness

QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS, B.C. (AP) — The wilderness of the Queen Charlotte Islands off the British Columbia coast is the home of the world's fastest flying bird—the peregrine falcon.

For nearly 4,000 years, since the Mongols of central Asia first pursued game with trained hawks and falcons, man has utilized this bird's hunting skill.

Once the most widely distributed of any bird, the numbers of peregrine falcons have been greatly reduced in recent years. The causes are many. The bird is bold on the attack and protests vigorously whenever its nest is approached, making it an easy mark for hunters. Soil, air and water pollution have also taken their toll.

Falcons have disappeared from most of Europe and a recent survey of U.S. wildlife experts revealed they are virtually extinct east of the Rocky Mountains.

Here on the B.C. coast and particularly in these wild and windswept islands, the story is more hopeful. Huge flocks of peregrines, eagles, other birds of prey and sea birds patrol the skies over the Queen Charlottes, living on marine life washed up from the sea.

The Queen Charlotte falcons nest in the greatest density known anywhere. The B.C. Fish and Wildlife Service, greatly concerned about the birds' future, has been carefully controlling the annual peregrine harvest since 1960.

The peregrines inhabit the bleakest isles of the Queen Charlottes, locating their nests on the sides of sheer cliffs, often 300 feet above the pounding surf.

Both peregrine adults incubate the eggs, then brood the progeny for six weeks.

The falcons hit speeds of up to 200 miles an hour while in pursuit of prey.

Much To Be Said In Favor Of Santa

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Help save Santa Claus!
For some years there has been an adult conspiracy afoot to dump the Jolly Old Saint in the nearest garbage can.
They are the people who complain Christmas has become terribly overcommercialized, has lost its real meaning, and blame it all on the big fat fellow with the white whiskers.
"We'd be better off without Christmas," they mutter, as the seasonal sound of "Jingle Bells" begins to jangle their nerves. "The whole thing has just become a big business promotion of hypocritical sentimentality."
There is, of course, some truth in what they say. Undoubtedly there is a high percentage of molasses in the sticky good will that inundates the western world at Christmastide. Undoubtedly a lot of business institutions—perhaps even the U.S. Post Office—make a profit out of Christmas, and a lot of employees earn big sums in overtime pay. And undoubtedly a lot of people get presents they don't need and, in return, give presents that others don't want.

A fellow has to admit also that the incessant din of "Jingle Bells" can weary even the most loyal ear.
But none of this is any reason to dismiss poor old Santa Claus as a pious fraud or a tool of capitalism.
Naturally he has his faults. In a time of overpowering conformity he remains a stubborn old-fashioned nonconformist.
No business luncheon club would admit to membership an oddball who wears a red stocking cap, red suit, and black boots.
Production-wise, his manufacturing facilities are overcentralized, since he has worldwide distribution but only one factory—and that one in a climate fit only for polar bears.
He refuses to pay tariff or customs duties and smuggles his goods across international boundaries.
Although he flies through the skies, he never radios his flight plan to federal aviation authorities.
He goes down chimneys asked or unasked, thereby committing the arrestable offense of breaking and entering.
On the other hand, there is much to be said in favor of Santa Claus.
For example:
He is the only grownup over 30 years of age that all children still believe and have faith in.
He is faithful to his wife. He has never had a divorce or been caught in a love nest.
He has a perfect safety record. He has never been in a traffic accident or dented a pedestrian. You don't find many drivers like that, old or young.
As a boss, he maintains exemplary relations with his workmen. His elves have fine morale, and none has ever been known to quit or go on strike.
And he did it all without government help. Santa Claus has never so much as asked Lyndon Johnson or Congress for even a landing and take-off strip for his reindeer. What other industry can make this claim?
The fact is that Santa Claus is the biggest Horatio Alger success story in modern history.
Through it all he has kept his sense of humor and love of people. Like the One whose birthday is celebrated at Christmas, he extends hope and forgiveness to all, remembering the naughty child as well as the good.

Roodhouse Club Dinner Honors Rotary - Anns

ROODHOUSE — Forty-six men and women attended the Rotary dinner meeting held Wednesday in Hopkins Hall when Rotary-Anns and other guests were honored. The dinner tables featured Christmas TB seal mats, coasters, and napkins. Invocation preceding the dinner was offered by Kenneth Ballard.

Leading the group singing was Jerry Luber who was accompanied on the piano by a guest, Mrs. William Admire. The weekly drawing for the cake was won by Jerry Hagen. Mrs. Luber received the centerpiece of yellow roses at the head table.
The guests were greeted by the president, Henry Van Tuyle and wives of the new members and other guests were introduced. All of the ladies present were pinned with yellow rose buds, with orchids for the officers' wives.
Program chairman Mervin Henry introduced the guest speaker, Rev. A. Willard Heimbeck of Hannibal, Mo., an authority on the life and works of Mark Twain. Rev. Heimbeck spoke on the author and showed colored slides taken on a river trip on the famed Delta Queen which included points of interest in Louisiana and other states en route. Rev. Heimbeck is currently vice president of the Hannibal Rotary Club.
Mrs. Wilmoth Todd and Mrs. Edna Peterson and their assistants including two young boys who served as waiters were in charge of the dinner.

Mrs. Allan Maxwell Chagan

Peggy Goveia, Philadelphia man exchange vows

A former Jacksonville resident, Miss Peggy Jo Goveia of Washington, D.C., granddaughter of Mrs. M. D. Goveia, 1016 North Diamond street, became the bride of Lieutenant Allan Maxwell Chagan of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania Saturday, November twenty-fifth.

The former Miss Goveia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Graves of Springfield, was married in the Westminster Presbyterian church in that city. Dr. Edward Walter Ziegler performed the ceremony.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Chagan of Philadelphia. The bride wore a gown of white crepe with a jeweled roll collar and long bishop sleeves, cuffed in the same jewel trim. Her chapel veil fell from the shoulderline.

Mrs. Aaron C. Finkbinder, III, Audubon, New Jersey, was matron of honor. Miss Nancy J. Steele and Miss Markay Kerr, both of Washington, were bridesmaids.

Jack Chagan of Philadelphia, attended his brother as best man. Peter Klingensmith, Chicago and Aaron C. Finkbinder, III, were groomsmen. Ushers were E. Dean Chagan, Philadelphia, another brother of the groom and Robert D. Schwarz, Philadelphia.

A reception was held in the Sumbrella Room at the Leland Motor Hotel.

After a wedding trip to Long Beach Island, New Jersey, the couple will leave to make their home in Karlsruhe, Germany.

Barbara Daniel of Virginia bride of Gary L. Rynders

VIRGINIA — Mr. and Mrs. Darwood Daniel of Virginia announce the marriage of their daughter, Barbara, to Gary Lynn Rynders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rynders of Jacksonville.

They were married Nov. 18th by the Rev. William J. Boston in Jacksonville.

Miss Earlene Blumling of Murrayville and Dave Morton of Versailles, attended the couple.

The bride wore a beige knit costume with brown accessories. Her flowers were white roses and bronze mums. Miss Blumling was in beige and brown and her flowers were roses and mums.

The bride's mother wore green and the groom's mother the same color.

The newlyweds are residing at 1134 Elm street in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Rynders graduated from Virginia High School and is employed at the Tops Big Boy restaurant in Jacksonville. The groom attended Jacksonville High School and is employed by the Jacksonville cemetery board.

where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Army Signal Corps.

The bride graduated from Springfield High School and Denison University, Granville, Ohio. She has been a legislative analyst for the U.S. Public Health Service in Washington. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Lt. Chagan graduated from the Episcopal Academy in Philadelphia and Colgate University, Hamilton, New York. He received his master's degree in business from American University at Washington. His fraternity is Phi Gamma Delta.

Arenzville unit hears report on membership tea

ARENZVILLE — The Monroe Homemakers Extension Unit met November 28 at the home of Mrs. Lowell Buss at Bluff Springs. Mrs. William Wubker was assistant hostess.

Program booklets for the coming year were distributed and filled in.

Mrs. Arthur Carls reported on the Membership Tea which was held at Virginia in honor of all new members in the county.

Mrs. Wilbur L. Meyer presented the major topic, "Beliefs We Live By."

"Music Appreciation" was the special feature given by Mrs. Homer Hendrick.

The next meeting will be a Christmas potluck dinner at noon on Dec. 15 at the home of Mrs. Homer Hendrick. A gift exchange will be included in the afternoon's activities.

Mrs. Marvin Schnake was hostess to the Anna Garten Circle, LCW, of St. Peter's Lutheran Church on Wednesday evening.

The Bible study topic, "The Door," the 9th in a series of Self-Portraits of Christ, was led by Mrs. John Jokisch.

Mrs. Marvin Schnake was elected Circle leader for 1968.

A letter of thanks from Robert Clark, who is stationed in Germany, expressed appreciation for a gift of candy and cookies sent to him.

Mrs. Charles Hendrick invited the Anna Garten members and their families to a New Year's Eve party at the parish hall. The party will be preceded by caroling.

The December Circle meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Bill Kinsey on Dec. 20, with Mrs. Waldron Paul as devotional leader.

TIME FOR CHILDREN

In a survey of women's clubs, women aged 24-36 felt they didn't have enough time for all they would like to do, while those over 45 said they didn't have enough to do. Women in the middle group, whose children are well past the toddler stage, weren't as strong in their feeling of not having enough time.

Mrs. Gordon Ray Schutz

Mrs. Ernst R. Janvrin

Ernst Janvrin of Roodhouse weds California girl

ROODHOUSE — Pink roses and carnations decorated the altar of Trinity Church of the Nazarene in Sacramento, California where Miss Karin Jones of that city became the bride of Ernst R. Janvrin of Roodhouse, Illinois.

The groom's father, Dr. H. L. Janvrin, performed the double ring ceremony by candlelight. He was assisted by the pastor, the Reverend Daniel Penn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Branson of Sacramento and the groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Janvrin of Roodhouse.

Miss Diane Fisher of Sacramento was maid of honor. She wore pink English silk organza over faille with a matching tulle headpiece. Her flowers were pink roses and carnations in heart shape.

Miss Lois Janvrin of Roodhouse, sister of the groom; Miss Jean Brewer, Miss Donna Van Horn and Miss Gloria Klausen all of Sacramento were bridesmaids and Mrs. Thomas Fernino, Brooklyn, New York was bridesmatron. They were gowned identical to the honor attendant and carried the same type flowers.

DeAnne Branson, sister of the bride was flower girl and costumed like the senior attendants. Bradley S. Baker, cousin of the bride was ringbearer. Ginny L. Branson and Connie J. Nunn lighted tapers at the altar.

John K. Johnson, Farmington, Michigan, was best man. Ushers were Bruce Jones, Sacramento, brother of the bride; Thomas Fernino, Brooklyn, New York; Raymond Lane, Piper City, Illinois; Charles Branson, Orangevale, California and Richard Lutz, Muskegon, Michigan.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of French satin brocade with A-line skirt and chapel train. Her tulle veil, trimmed with pearls, fell to a forward lace and beaded satin headpiece. She carried a heart shaped cluster of white carnations, stephanotis and pink rosebuds.

The mother of the bride wore pink with matching accessories and the groom's mother pink with black accessories.

A reception was held at the church. After a short wedding trip in Southern California the couple will reside in Sacramento.

The bride, a graduate of the Luther Burbank High School is employed by California Western States Life Insurance. The groom, a Roodhouse High School graduate, attended Western Illinois University. He is serving with the Air Force, stationed at Mather A.F. Base near Sacramento.

GOOD-GOOD CANDY

"Bonbon" is French superlative for "good good" candy. The name may seem to cover other types of small sweet goodies but traditionally bonbons are made of variously flavored sugar fondant, white and pastel tinted. Centers are molded sometimes with nuts or fruit then dipped in melted fondant to coat. As they are placed to dry a quick swirl makes the characteristic twist on the top of bonbons.

Mrs. Bridgewater, Allen Thoroman united in Brown

Sunday afternoon, November twenty-sixth, in the Donald Perry home in Versailles a double ring ceremony united in marriage Mrs. Fern Bridgewater and Allen Thoroman of Versailles. The Reverend Thomas Ross officiated.

Mrs. Ruth Perry, daughter of the bride, and Gale Thoroman, son of the groom, attended the couple. Danny Perry, a grandson, was ringbearer.

The bride wore a gold brocade dress with matching jacket. Her accessories were black and her corsage bronze mums and pink rosebuds.

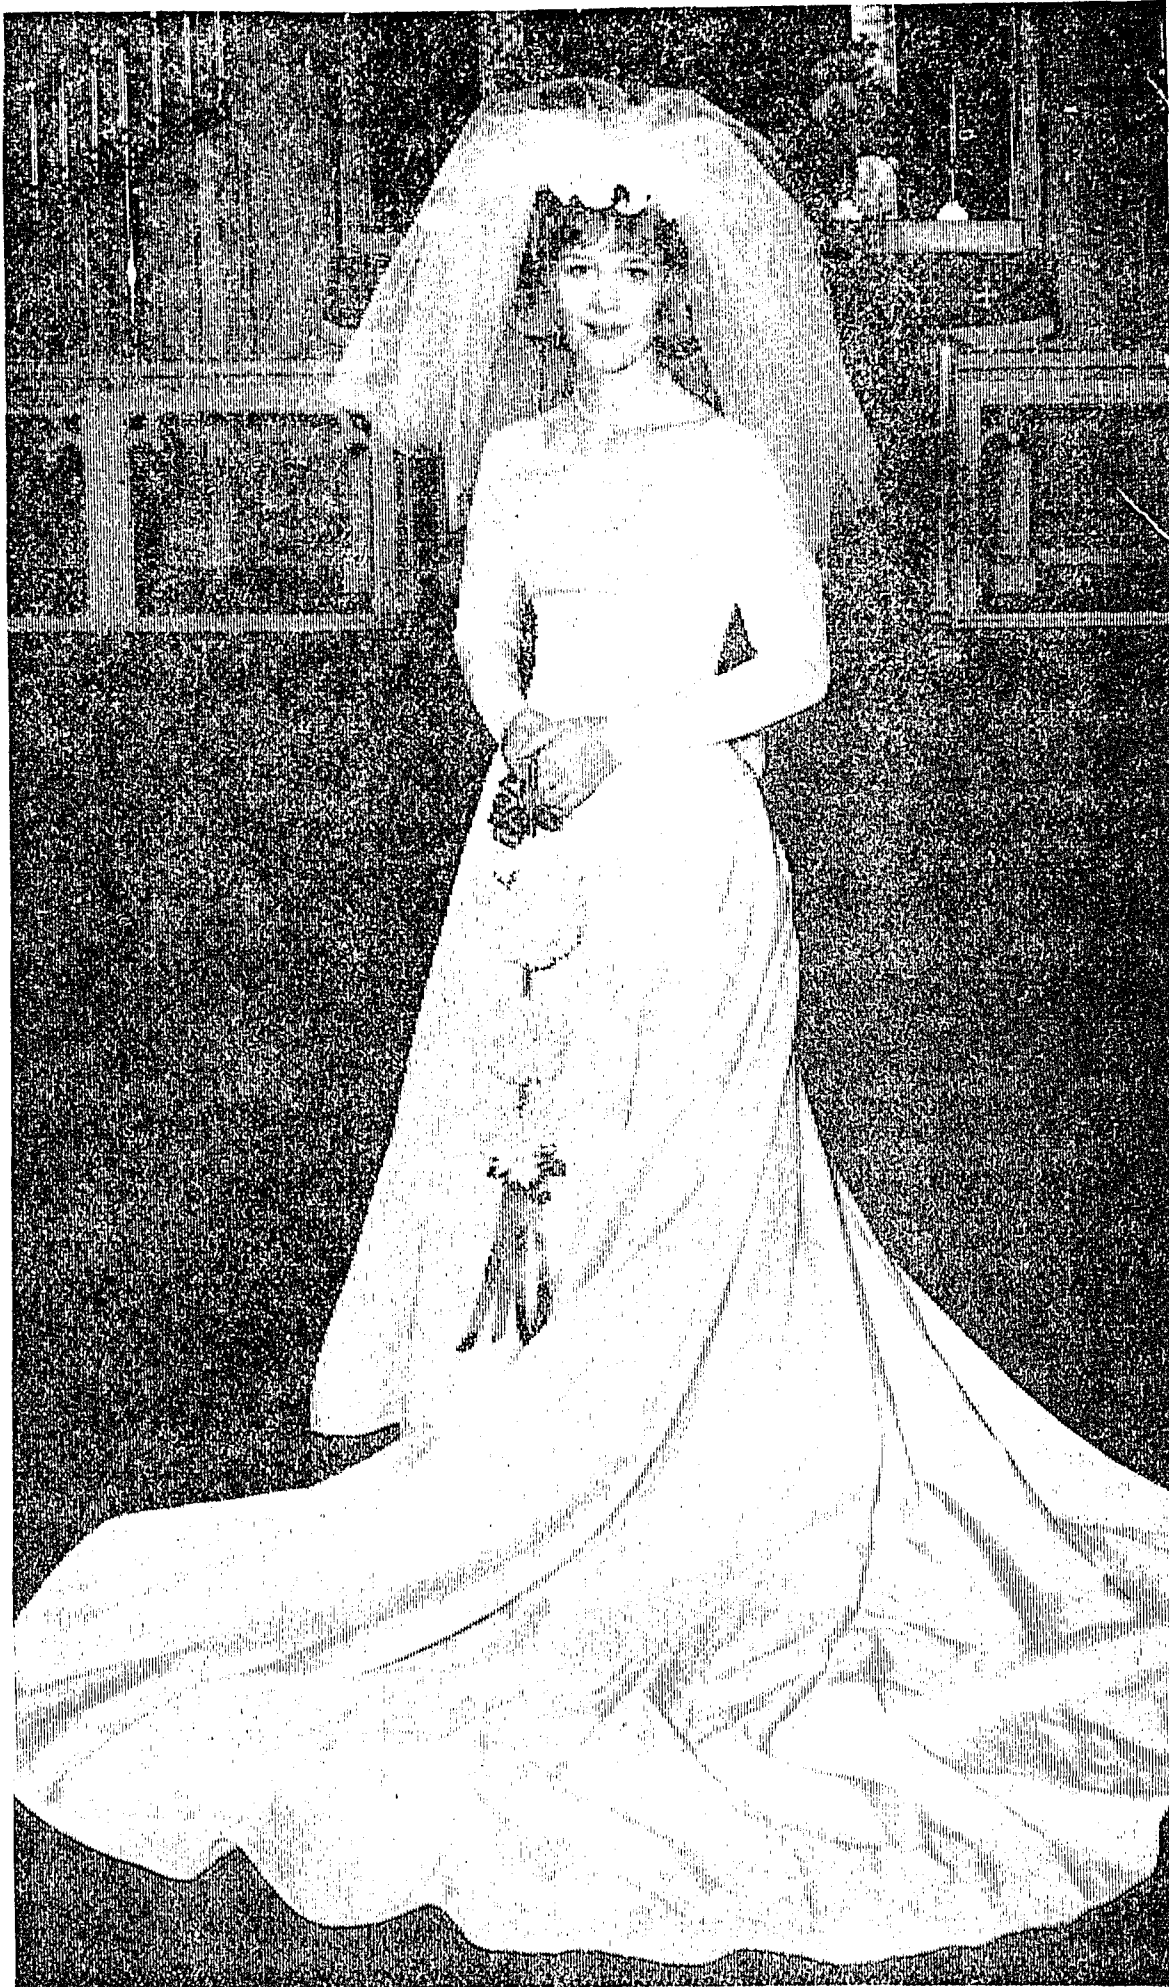

Mrs. Perry wore beige lace with brown accessories. Her flowers were bronze mums.

The Perry home was attractively decorated for the occasion with tapers burning in candelabra, palms and fall flowers. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. Trudy Bridgewater, Mrs. Dawn McGinnis and Mrs. Terry Kelly. Guests attended the wedding from Pekin, Jacksonville, Hersman, Versailles, Quincy, Brown and Roodhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Thoroman left for a two weeks trip in Southern States and upon return will reside in Versailles.

SPENDING HOUSEHOLD MONEY

Husbands seem to control the budget in the 37-to 45-year-old families whereas over 45 the wives take over. The youngsters, 24-36, seem to spend their money jointly.

Mrs. Roger Ray Robison

BATH—Miss Sandra Suzanne Minor of Bath and Roger Ray Robison of Kilbourne were united in marriage Saturday evening, November eighteenth, at the St. Paul's Lutheran church in Havana. The Reverend John H. Beiderweeden performed the double ring ceremony by candlelight.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Minor of Bath and the groom is the son of Mrs. Nina Robison of Kilbourne. The bride wore a gown of antique ivory peau de soie with Alencon lace appliques. A lace headpiece held her veil of illusion. A reception at the church followed the ceremony. The newlyweds will reside in Kilbourne.

Congregational Church Will Honor Miss Bailey

The Congregational church in its 134th anniversary observance will be recognizing longtime affiliates, at services this Sunday morning, Dec. 3rd.

Longest Membership The honor of having the longest resident membership in the Congregational Church of Jacksonville goes to Miss Ruth Bailey, 1005 Grove St. She came to Jacksonville from Denver, Colorado, in 1896 to live with her grandmother, Mary Dustin Wood, and her aunt, Frances Wood, both members of the Congregational Church.

She went to grade school here, graduated from Jacksonville High School and from Illinois College. After teaching for five years in the grade schools of Morgan County, she taught in the Illinois School for the Deaf for 37 years.

She has been a member since 1899, serving in the church as a Sunday school teacher, with Campfire Girls, as advisor for the old Christian Endeavor, in the Woman's Society as treasurer and many other ways, as librarian of the church library, and in the thrift shop for fifteen years.

Century Memberships The Congregational church roots of Dr. C. Ellsworth Black II go back to the founding fathers of the church, William Kirby, one of the members of the famous "Yale Band" and to Hannah McClure Wolcott. Dr. Black lived all his life in Jacksonville and as a member of the Congregational church, which he joined in 1908.

He served the church in different capacities, chairman of the Church Council; Board of Trustees, and Moderator. Mrs. Black joined in 1923. She served as a teacher in the Sunday School, president of the Pilgrim Society, and worked with the women of the church. Together the membership of

Schutz - James nuptials Nov. 18 at White Hall

WHITE HALL — The Reverend E. Harris Paulson performed the November eighteenth ceremony when Miss Linda Kay James of White Hall became the bride of Gordon Ray Schutz of Hillview.

White mums and palms banked the altar of the First Baptist church here. Dan Mathews sang and Mrs. Donald Lester was at the organ for the prelude.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy James of White Hall and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schutz of Hillview.

Mrs. Albert Short, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Frederick Lakamp, Chapin and Mrs. William Hoeman were bridesmaids. Miss Melody Schutz, cousin of the groom, was flowergirl.

Dean Willis, Jacksonville, was best man. Wayne Ash and Ethan Cox were groomsmen. Ushers were Albert Short and Gary James, brother of the bride. Tapers at the altar were lighted by David Schutz, brother of the groom and Craig Early, cousin of the groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace on empire lines with a lace veil. A forward petal headdress with crystals held her double blusher veil. She carried a cascade of white roses.

The bride's attendants wore green velvet, also on empire lines, with white pillbox headdresses. Each carried a muff with yellow roses. The little flower girl wore white velvet with a white headdress.

The mother of the bride wore a green knit suit with brown accessories and the groom's mother was in light green with a darker shade trim. Her accessories were black. Each wore a corsage of white roses.

At the reception held at the church Toby Yelm, Delores

DeSha, Joyce Early, Karen Lorton, Beverly Ivers, Karen Crabtree and Barbara Willis assisted.

The couple is residing in Kentucky after a wedding trip to St. Louis, Mo.

Both young people graduated from North Greene High school in 1964. The bride attended Miss Hickey's School for Secretaries and was employed at the Morgan County Department of Public Aid. The groom attended Southern Illinois University, Alton branch and graduated from the David Ranken Mechanical and Technical Trades School in St. Louis. He is now serving with the Army, stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

GREASY STAINS

Stains made by coffee with cream, etc., need a dry-cleaning solution to remove grease. Place garment over a blotter of toweling, apply cleaning solvent and work from underside of garment. Caution: Fumes of solvents are toxic, so use only in ventilated room.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lynn Martin

Shirley Ann Scott, Larry L. Martin vows at Grace

Miss Shirley Ann Scott and Larry Lynn Martin were united in marriage Friday evening, November twenty-fourth, at the Grace Methodist church. White mums and glads adorned the altar of the church where Rev. John P. Atkins performed the ceremony.

Mrs. G. O. Webster was at the organ. Guests were seated by David Scott, brother of the bride and John Martin, uncle of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Scott, Jr., 417 Goltra avenue and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin E. Martin, Jacksonville route three.

Mrs. James Edwards of Franklin and Larry Zietler of Greenville, college classmates of the groom, attended the couple.

Mrs. Edwards wore a conventional length red sheath with black accessories. She carried a cascade of peppermint carnations.

The bride wore a street length beige sheath with dark brown accessories and a brief veiled headpiece. Her flowers were white and pink carnations.

The mother of the bride wore a navy and white ensemble with navy accessories and the groom's mother was in a blue knit suit with beige accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

At the reception held at the church following assisted, Margaret Hartle, Jeris Smith, Gayle Woodruff, Judy Harney and Diana Kearns.

Upon return from a short trip the newlyweds took up residence at Carbondale where the groom is a junior at Southern Illinois University.

Both young people graduated from Jacksonville High School, the bride in 1966 and the groom in 1965. Mrs. Martin has been employed in the office of Ralph F. Withee.

Guests attended from Roxana, Belleville, Morris, Springfield, Carrollton, Concord, Milton, Beardstown, Florissant, Mo.

Members of the wedding party were entertained at a rehearsal supper the Thursday evening before the wedding at the Howard Johnson restaurant.

HERE, THERE, EVERYWHERE

Zipper are to be found everywhere. On coats, dresses, boots and even gloves. The new fashion look also means ultra-convenience, that is, until the zipper sticks. A couple of drops of baby oil on the teeth in the problem area and the zipper will function once more.

Amvet Auxiliary plans holiday parties, projects

A mvet Auxiliary members met Nov. 28th at the club. The president, Esta Lee Beadles, presided. Sergeant-at-arms, Martha Upchurch, led the pledge to the flag and preamble.

Chaplain Bernadine Lair offered prayer. Roll call showed eight officers present. Bernadine Lair received the door drawing and Irene Sanders the regular drawing.

Renewals were received from Wilma Schumaker, Virginia Coffman, Marie Hill, Lee McCurley, Evelyn Strawn, Patty Decker, Louise Todd and Doris Dewese.

Irene Sanders read minutes and Millie Poole gave the treasurer's report. Letters were received from four boys in Vietnam acknowledging boxes received from the Auxiliary, Richard Roberts, Dewalt Frye, Dennis Roberts and Donald Slocum.

The Auxiliary will be serving between 200 and 300 on Dec. 15th at the annual Christmas party for the union employees at Jacksonville State Hospital.

The veterans Christmas party will be at the club Dec. 6th with a dinner to be served and gifts presented. Helping will be Vernelle Bryant, Lucy Stillwell, Esta Lee Beadles, Lucille Burleson, Velma Jones, Bea Daniels and Naomi Moore.

The Post and Auxiliary Christmas dance will be at 9 p.m. Dec. 17th and the children's party that afternoon. The next meeting will be 8 p.m. on Dec. 12th.

HAVE OWN DISH

The halves of acorn squash provide their own serving shells (seeded of course). They may be filled after baking, as with creamed onions, or before, as with pork sausage. Or, they may be served simply glazed with brown sugar and butter. Two tablespoons each does it, and if handy add a teaspoon of sherry to the cavity. Although any sugar may be used, brown sugar adds flavor, as well as, glazing ability. Place halves in baking pan, but if they tip (as is likely) arrange on muffin pan instead. Cover tightly with aluminum foil and bake alone, or with an oven meal, at 350 degrees for an hour. Remove foil, baste with liquid in cavity and continue baking uncovered 10 minutes more. Within minutes after taking from oven the brown sugar thickens to a candied coating of the moistly-baked squash.

Weddings PARTIES and CLUBS

Holiday Bazaars are in full season now and usually held along with a luncheon. Centenary Methodist women will be serving a chicken casserole luncheon Thursday, Dec. 7th in fellowship hall. Most of the 12 noon serving tickets are gone. Other servings are 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Only advance tickets are available from Mrs. Eugene Byers, Mrs. Dimmitt Trotter and the church office.

Bazaar booths open at 10 a.m. The top picture shows l-r, Mrs. Eugene Byers, one of the general co-chairman, holding a Centenary Cookbook, which includes recipes for the foods being served at the luncheon, in addition to hundreds more; Mrs. Henry Bolton, dining room co-chairman and Mrs. R. E. Patterson, kitchen co-chairman.

There will be the usual handmade articles, baked and canned foods, toys and children's clothing. Below Janet Norfleet and Kimberly Ford, who came with their mother and grandmother, respectfully, bringing things to the church, look over some of the toys for sale.

Granddaughter of Woodson couple bride at Mendota

Miss Gloria Jean White, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy O. Whitaker of Woodson, became the bride of Jerry Lee Manning of Mendota in a ceremony November eighteenth. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bernard Rockwood of Mendota and Everett White of Manhattan, Illinois. The groom is the son of Mrs. Earl Meyer of Mendota and Earl Manning of Aurora.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Manning

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend W. Young at the Mendota Presbyterian church. The bride's uncle, Samuel Whitaker of Jacksonville, gave her in marriage.

Bronze and yellow pams were used at the church altar. Mrs. Joseph Sester presided at the organ.

Mrs. Ruby Burkey of Mendota, sister of the bride, and Wayne Manning of Mendota, brother of the groom, attended the couple. Guests were seated by Rickey Meyer, brother of the groom and Marvin Hill.

The bride wore a formal wedding gown of taffeta and Chantilly lace on empire lines with a Cathedral train flowing from the shoulder lines. A pearl and rhinestone tiara headpiece held her blusher veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade fall of yellow and bronze pom-poms.

Mrs. Burkey wore floor length green chiffon over taffeta with a matching headpiece. Her bouquet was of yellow and bronze poms.

The mother of the bride chose red wool with black accessories and the groom's mother was in a winter white dress with black accessories. Mrs. Rockwood wore white poms and Mrs. Meyer yellow and bronze poms. Mrs. Whitaker, grandmother of the bride, wore a corsage of yellow and bronze poms.

Immediately after the church ceremony a reception was held at the Mendota Fireman's Hall where Mrs. Everett White, sister-in-law of the bride, registered guests. Others assisting were Lorraine Manning, sister-in-law of the groom; Janet Thomas, sister of the groom; Mrs. D. Craig, aunt of the groom; Joan Schuller, Haberta Hibbets, sister of the groom and Mrs. Harley Dawdy and Mrs. J. R. Morgan, aunts of the bride.

The newlyweds are making their home at 702½ Fifth avenue in Mendota.

Both young people attended Mendota schools. The bride is a cost accountant at Conco, Inc. and the groom is employed at the Beitsch Florists there.

The bride's grandparents from Woodson were among the special guests from a distance, Jacksonville, Woodson, Rolling Meadows, Aurora and Walnut, Ill.

5 POINT PUNCH

Punch is popular. It is easy to make, and it is easy to serve in quantities. The name may be from the English abbreviation of "punchoon" a large vat for holding liquids. Or, as seems more likely, it may come from the Hindi word "punch" meaning five. For punch is made, with authority, from five ingredients: alcohol, water, lemon, sugar, and spice. It may be brandy and rum, wine, tea, or milk that is mixed with either hot or cold water. Mint may be used in place of nutmeg. But sugar and lemon — the sweet and the sour — are unvaried ingredients. To get the most from each, use cube or tablet sugar; rub them over the lemon until all the yellow zest is absorbed; then mix with other punch ingredients.

Salem Guild Names Officers

New officers of Salem Lutheran Guild were elected during the group's annual meeting held Nov. 20 in the basement of Salem Lutheran school.

They are: Carolyn Kuklies and Joyce Robinson, co-chairmen; Elise Locke, vice-chairman; Louella Spaenower, secretary and Donna Moody, treasurer.

The meeting opened with a Thanksgiving hymn and the reading of a psalm. Roy Lovekamp presented the topic, entitled "Liturgy."

JoAnn Plautz called the business session to order with 26 members and one guest, Ruth Wilson, present.

The constitution and by-laws were read and written reports of the chairmen of the standing committees were heard.

Mardy Meyer asked to be relieved of her duties with two committees and will be replaced on the Altar Guild committee by Maxine Lashmelt. Erna Lee Dickman will assume her duties on the quarterly and mite box committee.

Norma Kern visited shut-ins during November.

Pauline Willner reported there were 22 guests at the "hospitality dinner," served Nov. 19. Carolyn Engelbrecht reported that 40 pot holders and 200 towels were made during the October meeting and later presented to Passavant hospital.

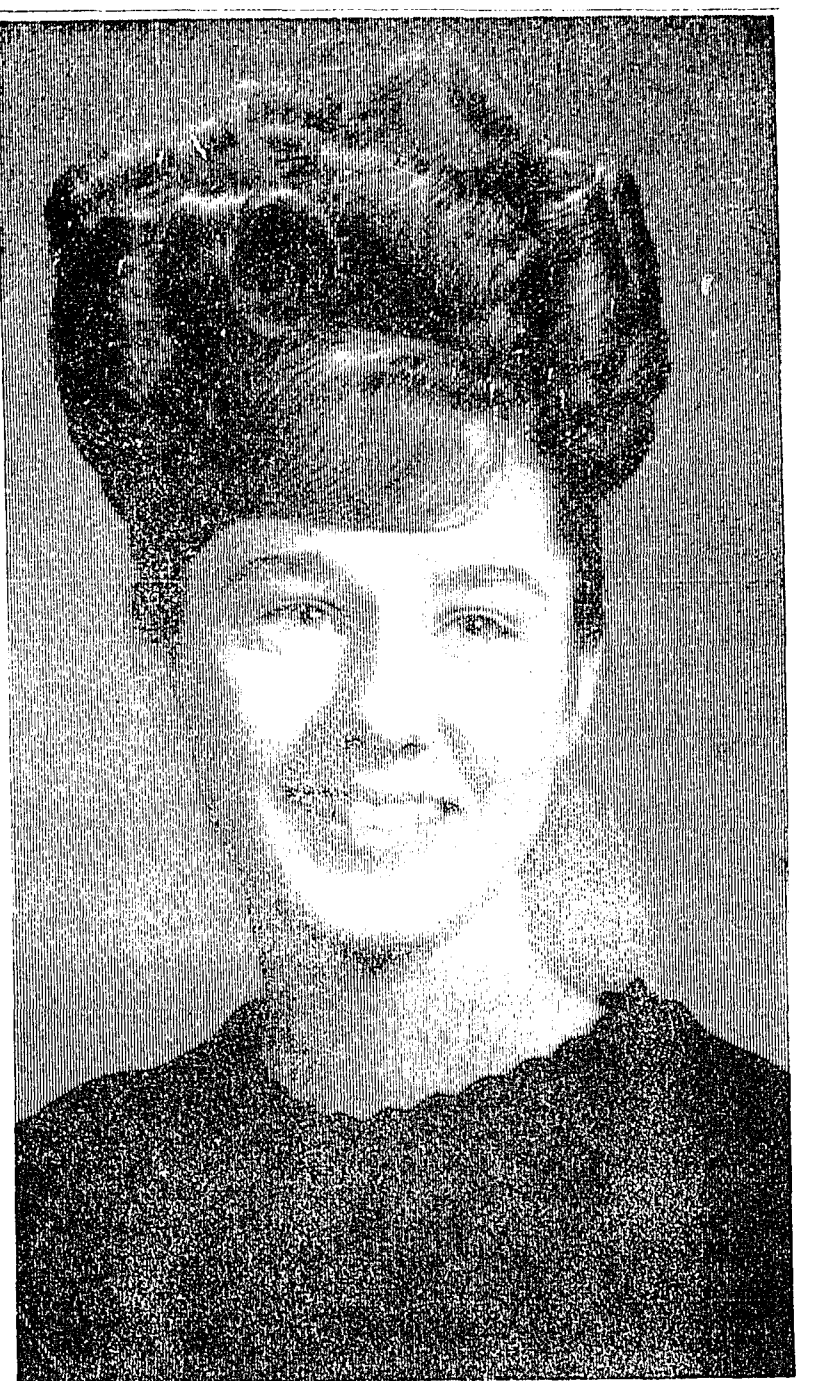

Betty Price, chairman of the L.W.M.L. convention to be held at MacMurray College next June, reported that the guild will be in charge of credentials. Publicity will be handled by the Ladies Aid of Salem Lutheran church and the auxiliary of Christ Lutheran Church of The Deaf.

Serving on the social committee for the meeting were Dottie Zimmer, Doris Willner, Joyce Robinson, Lucille Eberhardt and Carla Jo Ruh.

The December meeting will consist of Christmas caroling and an installation of officers.

CARROLLTON — Mr. and Mrs. Ward Sponsler of Carrollton announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sharon Rose, to Jerald Kent Wyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wyatt of Greenfield. They will be married Friday, February ninth, at the First Apostolic church in Springfield.

Miss Sponsler graduated from Carrollton High School in 1967 and attends Illinois Business College in Springfield. Her fiancé graduated in 1959 from Escondido High School, Escondido, California and is presently pastor of the First Pentecostal church of Clinton, Illinois.

Merritt group at wedding in New Berlin

MERRITT — Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stegeman, Mr. and Mrs. Nimrod Funk, Miss Hester Kory, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Arnold of Bluffs went to New Berlin Saturday where they attended the wedding of Bolek Henry Dzierwa and Miss Diana Helen Peters at the St. Mary's Catholic church.

They also attended the buffet dinner at noon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Peters, Sr.; and the granddaughter of Mrs. Julia Werries Weiss and the late William Werries, Sr. After Mr. and Mrs. Dzierwa return from a honeymoon in the southern states, they will make their home on a farm near New Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Berry called on Mrs. Elsie Botterbusch, Miss Annie Coumbes, Leo Wilson, and Mrs. Emma Harvey, all patients in Holy Cross hospital on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Velma Hardwick visited Mrs. Marie Hardwick in Passavant hospital on Monday.

Mrs. Clemma Bown visited Miss Annie Coumbes in Holy Cross hospital on Friday.

Mrs. Lola Funk was surprised when she returned home from her week's visit. Her son Nimrod had a new colored TV installed in their home. While she was away.

Beauty Care Today

By MID

Your eyebrows are a very important part of your appearance. Not everyone is fortunate enough to have a perfectly arched brow.

How can you improve the appearance of your eyebrows?

If your brows are not just exactly to your liking, you will need two things. One, a sharp eye pencil. Two, brush-on eyebrow make-up. These should be brown. The darker your complexion, the darker the brown.

If you wish to build up the top line of the brow (the most common problem), try this: Lightly, with the pencil, outline the shape you wish. Do not outline the thicker area of the brow. Now fill in with the brush-on make-up for your eyebrows.

Suggestion: Add an exotic touch in the evening. Extend your brow line towards your temples.

DAVID POLING

Religion Is Our Gratitude, Creator of 'Peanuts' Feels

David Poling

By DAVID POLING

When I was growing up it was Mickey Mouse and Flash Gordon. Dick Tracy was important. Major Hoople was read. By comparison, none of these can touch the worldwide influence of "Peanuts." The comic strip characters of Charles Schulz are not only followed by millions of readers in the newspapers but extend to the Broadway theater, the sweatshirt factory, and get-well cards for shut-ins.

Charles Schulz has created universal characters in Charlie Brown, Linus, Lucy, and a theological dog named Snoopy.

The religious convictions of the author find a natural expression in the adventures of the Peanuts gang as they endure the trials of Little League baseball.

ball, the Christmas countdown, and the bossiness of an older sister. Schulz is successful because he understands the human predicament of laughter and sorrow, hostility and forgiveness. His hero Snoopy has a dog house but triumphantly is on it as much as in it.

Recently my colleague, Kenneth L. Wilson, interviewed Schulz for the Christian Herald. This was a delightful day in Wilson's life as he discovered the wide range of interests that belong to the creator of Peanuts. Schulz talked about his career, his faith, the church, books that have shaped his life, his family, long hair, dancing, miniskirts and family traditions. And sermons.

I think we can incorporate his ideas about sermons and church services any time now:

"If the minister does not feel that a definite message has been given him, why not admit from the pulpit and say, 'This morning I'm not going to try to make up something to fill the time. We'll sing a few extra hymns and go home!' Why do the services have to begin and end at the same time, and why does everything have to be so rigid?"

Schulz is a full-time philosopher as well as cartoonist:

"I cannot help that the comic strip brings in a good deal of money. I do not draw the comic strip to make money. I draw it because it is one thing that I feel I do best.

"It is a terrible thing to have to spend your working days looking forward to weekends and to think that it is only on the weekends and your days off that life is any fun. . . . Every working day should be just as enjoyable, if not more enjoyable, than vacation days."

And what about the church today?

"I do not like a highly organized church. I think that as soon as the congregation reaches a level of 100 or so people, it is time to build a new church. As soon as the congregation gets to the point where you are not on fairly intimate terms with every other person in that church, you have become too big; you are no longer a gathering of believers but have become a theater where people can attend services."

Looking at the political-religious scene in this country, Schulz expressed a concern that reaches many of us when he remarked:

"I am very fearful of a church which equates itself with Americanism. This is a frightening trend — people who regard Christianity and Americanism as being virtually the same thing."

When asked to sum up his feelings about religion, America's leading cartoonist said,

"I have always regarded religion as gratitude. We live on an earth which is not ours but belongs to God. We are his creatures. We worship him out of a feeling of gratitude for what he has done for us and for his guidance, his protection, his leading."

(The Rev. Poling is associate editor of the Christian Herald.)

Cooking Is Fun Oven Pancakes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
CHRISTINE PINES'
OVEN PANCAKE

$\frac{3}{4}$  cup sifted regular flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
3 large eggs
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup milk
3 tablespoons butter

On wax paper, stir together the flour, salt and sugar. In a 1-quart mixing bowl, beat the eggs until they are thick and ivory colored. Add flour mixture; beat gently to blend. Add milk, beating until smooth, scraping down sides. Meanwhile, in a 10-inch iron skillet with heatproof handle, in a 450-degree oven melt the butter and heat the skillet; tilt skillet to spread butter over bottom. Pour batter into hot buttered skillet and bake in a 450-degree oven until pancake has risen in irregular puffs, climbed up sides of pan and browned — about 15 minutes. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Using 2 forks, tear into wedge-shape pieces. Lemon wedges may be served so juice may be squeezed over individual portions of pancake. Makes 5 servings.

Catholic Sociologist Pictures Future Church

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Weighing the evidence on the horizon, a noted Roman Catholic sociologist has projected the coming shape of that church in America. And he says the results add up to change "with a vengeance" but "no signs of revolt."

The prospects, he adds, are "half gloomy, half hopeful."
The Rev. Andrew M. Greeley, senior study director of the University of Chicago's National Opinion Research Center, in analyzing recent data on trends in the church, foresees these developments:

—Popular participation in election of bishops.

—General Catholic acceptance of the use of birth control devices, resulting from a "credibility gap" that has developed about the church's teachings on sexual morality.

—A "sharp increase in the anticlerical feelings" of Catholics, particularly among right-wing conservatives.

—A church organizational style similar to that of Protestantism.

—Greater flexibility in worship forms, under pressure from spreading experimental movements.

—An increase of the so-called "underground" new communities, outside traditional parish bounds, with recognition increasingly accorded them.

—An uncertain future for clerical celibacy, with no clear indications that the priests will be abandoned soon.

—Continued tensions over doctrinal and devotional matters, but no mass apostasy or heresy.

"American Catholics are changing their minds about many things, but they are not losing the faith and they are not leaving the Church," Father Greeley emphasizes. "Nor are they likely to in the foreseeable future."

Father Greeley, 39, has for five years headed the research center, gathering and assessing material on Catholic outlooks, particularly in the fields of education and youth.

In a new book, "The Catholic Experience: An Interpretation of the History of American Catholicism," published by Doubleday, he offers an intimate portrayal of the church's development.

He also lectures widely, and writes a column for Catholic newspapers. In a recent series of them, he drew together the various findings about church trends to deduce what will happen to the institution in the next 25 years.

Three Accidents Cause Damage In City Friday

Three accidents investigated by Jacksonville city police Friday afternoon caused damage to six vehicles but left the occupants unhurt.

The first accident occurred at 1:22 p.m. in the 200 block of South East Street. A northbound auto driven by Orville Baker, Jr. of 544 Brooklyn collided with an eastbound auto driven by Sharon M. Strubbe of rural Arenzville. Miss Strubbe told police parked cars blocked her vision while eastbound in an alley, crossing East Street. Both cars were driven from the scene.

The second accident happened at 1:54 p.m. at the intersection of South West and West College.

A car driven by Paula R. Schutz of Route 1, Hillview, pulled into the path of a westbound auto driven by Gary W. Smith of Murrayville. Both cars were driven from the scene.

The third accident occurred at 4:47 p.m. in the 400 block of South East Street. A southbound auto driven by Charles H. Baker of 825 South East collided with a properly parked auto owned by David Copley of 409 South East.

Baker's auto was towed from the scene.

For an interesting salad, marinate drained cooked broccoli in French dressing and serve on lettuce; top with a little sour cream (the commercial kind) mixed with mayonnaise; sprinkle with paprika.

The Pony Express operated between St. Joseph, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif.

Another new nation, the People's Republic of Southern Yemen, joins the world family. After more than a century, Britain withdrew from the area—formerly the Aden Protectorate and the South Arabian Federation, 17 desert sheikhdoms dominated by Britain—following months of bloody conflict between rival native parties. The sun-scorched tip of the Arabian peninsula has a population of about one million but little in resources other than its strategic position at the entrance to the Red Sea.

Or Do You Prefer Elk?

Says Buffalo Meat Can Be 'Very Tasty'

By BILL SANSHING

Associated Press Writer

CACHE, Okla. (AP) — "It is like trying to describe the fragrance of a rose to someone who has never sniffed one. It is a very personal thing."

Thus speaks Julian Howard on the subject of buffalo meat, a matter which interests him a great deal. He has 225 buffalo that he's prepared to peddle to anyone, anywhere. If buffalo is not your dish, he also has 250 elk.

These are surplus animals from the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge in southwest Oklahoma. Howard is manager of the refuge.

The U.S. Agriculture Department actually handles sales of the surplus beasts, as it has been doing for 30 years.

Thousands of buffalo roamed the prairies until Indians and white professional hunters all but wiped out the herds. Today the animals live on reservations, safe from slaughter until the time comes to sell the surplus.

"Sales of the carcasses to various regions change almost yearly," said Howard. "Last year, Oklahomans bought most of the animals and Californians were second. Illinois ranked first another time. A lot of the meat goes to the Midwest and New York State."

Buffalo carcasses sell for $180 each, but the price goes to $220 if they're frozen. The prices for elk are $90 and $110.

The buffalo and elk herds are culled each year, said Howard, because grassland on the refuge will support only about 1,000 buffalo and 350 elk. Last year, 200 buffalo and 225 elk were sold.

Compared to beef, buffalo meat is darker and coarser. Jacques S. Orenstein, owner of an Oklahoma City restaurant, agrees with Howard that it's good—if properly prepared.

"Buffalo meat can be very, very tasty," said Orenstein. "You might say it has a gourmet taste—if you marinate it well."

Orenstein has a specialty called "buffalo steak au poivre." That means "with pepper," but it's a bit more involved than that, to wit:

For steaks of 14 to 16 ounces, prepare a marinade of one cup of olive oil, one cup of salad oil, one sliced orange, one sliced lemon and one-quarter teaspoon of garlic powder.

"Combine these ingredients in a sauce pan, bring to a boil and simmer 20 minutes. Then wipe the steaks with a damp cloth, place in a pan and pour the hot marinade over the steaks," he says.

"Cook the steaks about an hour, turn over and marinate the other side, leaving on the fire another 60 minutes.

"After you remove the steaks, pat dry and coat both sides with coarse ground black pepper. Mix in a pan a quarter-inch deep mixture of butter and salad oil. Heat and saute the steaks in the mixture to your own degree of doneness.

"Remove the pan from the fire and add one ounce of brandy per steak, then place back on the fire and gradually add three ounces of heavy cream per steak to the pan, whipping with a wire whip as it simmers.

"When the sauce starts to thicken, remove from the fire, spoon over steaks—place on hot plates—and serve immediately."

After all that, buffalo or anything else should taste good.

MINOR DAMAGE REPORTED FRIDAY

Mrs. Kathryn Phillips of 899 Henry Street reported to city police at 9:58 p.m. Friday that she had backed into a car owned by Owen M. Wholers of Waverly at the corner of Hackett and East Independence. Mrs. Phillips told police that she had exchanged names with Wholers but was not sure the total damage would amount to $100, the minimum for compiling a report.

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 3 — Born today, you have unbounded ambition, but are sometimes inclined to bite off more than you can chew. Although you are intelligent enough to know your limitations, you nevertheless succumb at times to wishful thinking and begin to act upon goals that surpass what you are actually able to accomplish. Keep within the realm of your talents and abilities and you are sure to know success; overextend yourself, however, and you may well know disappointment.

Restless by nature, you have an ever-present yearning for travel, for new scenes, new faces. You will have to take care that you do not allow this urge for change to interfere with the success of your career. If possible, you should enter upon some line of work that will allow you to travel as much as you like—even if not quite to the places you have in mind.

Born somewhat ahead of your own time, you often have insights into today's problems and inklings of tomorrow's solutions. The experience of knowing what is going on with other people without either seeing or hearing from them is not at all foreign to you, and although it is an experience that causes you alarm at times, it is also one that sets you apart and makes you interesting.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, December 4
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Start the new work-week with a new attitude toward co-workers. This could be the day to make a bid for advancement.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Don't accept things on face value. Take all the time you need to look beneath the surface of what seems to be an opportunity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Best not to become too involved in the affairs of others, no matter how good a friend you may be. Keep aloof.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 21)—Freedom of action is necessary if you are to accomplish what you have set out to do. Untie the strings that hold you to another's will.

RENT ELECTRIC SHAMPOOER FOR....

with purchase of Renovator CARPET SHAMPOO

26 - 28 N. Side Sq.

ARIES (Mar. 22-Apr. 20)—The more tolerant you are of another's faults now, the more tolerant he or she will be of yours later on, when you need it.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—You can make great gains in social popularity if you make every effort to keep your best foot forward. Charm wins out.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Make no decisions before you have all the facts at your fingertips. It is easy to make a wise move after the fact.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Take your satisfaction from a sense of inner harmony. Otherwise, you'll only be disturbed by discord on the outside.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Make your requests for favors in a quiet, gracious manner. If they are denied, you need not feel yourself a beggar.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—The bonds of friendship may become somewhat loosened today unless you take special care to tighten the knot.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A day for attracting new and valuable friendships. If you appreciate your present position, let others know about it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Don't give off an air of unapproachability. With a friendly attitude, you should be able to make progress.

Christmas Trees Win Trip To 4-H Congress — Plus A Scholarship

"Christmas tree farming was a family project," said Walter Boyle, 18, McNabb, Ill., the state's "first" national 4-H forestry awards winner.

"Picnics in the pines during summer shearing and hot cups of chocolate in the barn during cold Sunday afternoon sales are fond memories," the youthful downstate conservationist remarked.

Walter studied his dad's tree growing prowess. "Once I discovered that he was making over $150 per acre per year on land that wouldn't grow a profitable grain crop, I was convinced to get into the tree growing business," he exclaimed.

Because it takes about eight years for conifers to reach Christmas tree size, father and son agreed on a moratorium on rent payments until the first trees were cut and offered for sale.

Management Service Meets Tuesday

Morgan county members of the Sangamon Valley Farm Bureau Farm Management Service will hold their annual meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 5, at the Blackhawk restaurant, beginning with a dinner at 6:30 p.m.

All cooperators, their wives and guests are invited. Anyone interested in knowing more about the management cooperative is also invited.

Cass county members will meet Wednesday, Dec. 13, at Sweetman's restaurant in Virginia.

A special feature of the program at both places will be on the subject of alternate choices, other than land, suitable for farmers to place their savings. The speaker will be Howard A. Bove, representative of Investors Diversified Services, Jacksonville.

FBFMS fieldmen will discuss 1967 check-in and record processing procedures and changes in income tax procedures, particularly the changes in the Self-Employed Persons Retirement act.

Franklin Corn Club To Meet

Sunday, Dec. 3, will be annual "Awards Night" for the Franklin Corn club. Supper at the Blackhawk restaurant will be served at 6:30 p.m.

George Richter, former vocational agriculture instructor at Franklin high school, will be the speaker. He is now a district supervisor of the Illinois Future Farmers of America.

There are 33 competing for this year's club awards, with some reporting yields of more than 200 bushels per acre.

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS

RENDERING IS BIG BUSINESS!

For every 100 pounds of meat cut and sold at the retail store, 5 pounds go out the back door as waste — bones and fat. The rendering industry performs a service by collecting this material and transforming it into useful profitable products.

Among them are inedible tallow and grease, ingredients for many industrial items from cosmetics to glycerin for explosives and animal feeds.

The consumer is thus likely to wind up with yesterday's bones and scraps in the reincarnated form of perfumed soap, plasticized dishes or fertilizer for his tulip bulbs.

Of the 4½ billion pounds of tallow and grease rendered annually by some 600 firms about ½ is used in the U.S. and the balance exported. In the past three years exports of tallow have averaged about 160 million and have been a plus factor in our balance of payments situation.

FROM THE CORN CRIB:

Two small boys, aged 7 and 2, were waiting in line at an ice cream stand. The little brother was announcing loudly: "I want vanilla. I want vanilla."

The supply of vanilla had given out. Interested parents stood by to see how the 7-year-old would handle such a crisis. Without flinching, he ordered 2 strawberry cones and handed one to his little brother. "Here you are," he said briskly. "Pink vanilla."

Across the Fields and Furrows is brought to you daily at 12:25 P.M. on WLDS 1180 on your dial by the people at Elliott State Bank.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

If you haven't given any thought to tax planning — it's time to do so.

If your income is going to be higher this year consider the purchase of machinery, etc., to take advantage of investment credit. Consider purchase of fertilizer and other supplies before the end of the year if you have adequate storage. In order to consider purchases as expenses for this year they must be paid for this year.

Get your account book up to date. It, kept accurately, is one of your best business tools.

Frequently we hear about liquid feeding of hogs.

There's a world of difference between the old slop bucket and today's liquid feeding. Hogs really take to wet feed. With liquid feeding there's no dust problem, palatability is improved, there's little waste, feed conversion is good, waterers may not be needed. Some systems may cut down on labor; seems to work well in confinement housing.

Now you should . . .
... Close the doors.
... Stop drafts in buildings.
... Dry corn.
... Make tree ornaments.
... Oil furnace fan motor and other electric motors that need it.

... Order fertilizer.
... Mail early.
... Check the skates.
... Use care and caution.

When you get some spare time order those repair parts that you will need before next crop season so that you can put them on before spring.

Winter Short Course On Grain Storage

A short course for farmers and others interested in drying and storing grain will be held this winter in Jacksonville. Extension Adviser George Trull announced last week.

Six sessions of 2½ to 3 hours each will be held, starting on Monday, Jan. 8, 1968. Other meetings will be held each week on Jan. 15, 22, 29, Feb. 5 and 12. All meetings will start at 1 p.m. and will be held at the Cooperative Extension Center, East Morton Road, Jacksonville.

Instructors will be Marvin Hall and Frank Andrew, Extension specialists in agricultural engineering. Some of the topics to be included in the course will be:

Illinois Farm OUTLOOK

BRITISH POUND WILL RESTRICT EXPORTS U. S. FARM PRODUCTS

Our farmers will lose a little because of the devaluation of the British pound. They will lose more as other nations follow the example set by Britain.

The devaluation of British money raises the costs of everything Britain buys from countries that do not devalue. For example, before devaluation, Britain could buy 200 dollars worth of U.S. products for 100 pounds. Now, they will have to pay 117 pounds for the same products. Because of the higher costs, Britain will cut her purchases of products from the United States. She will also cut her buying from other countries that do not devalue. This could divert more of some products, meat, for example — to the United States.

Britain is the fifth best foreign buyer of U.S. farm products. Last year (1966), the British bought farm products worth $471 million from the United States — 7 percent of our total exports.

Tobacco No. 1
The biggest item on this British shopping list was tobacco. They bought $137 million worth of tobacco last year. More important of Midwestern farmers, the British also bought $106 million worth of corn; $50 million of wheat; $15 million of soybeans; and $30 million of other grains, feeds, soybean oil, and similar products.

They also took $49 million worth of animal products, such as lard, meats, hides, tallow, and wool. Other important agricultural products purchased by the British in our markets include cotton, fruits, and vegetables.

At this writing, we do not know how many other countries will follow the British lead and devalue their own currencies. Ireland followed quickly. The Irish took $31 million of our agricultural products last year, principally tobacco, corn, and other grains.

Some of the other countries that have joined with the U.K. to form the European Free Trade Association (EFTA) may also devalue their currencies. The EFTA nations are Austria, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, and Switzerland. Altogether, the EFTA countries took nearly $800 million worth of U.S. farm products in the latest fiscal year.

Soybeans, Soybean Meal
Of these countries, Denmark is our largest customer. Last year, the Danes bought $86 million worth of U.S. farm products. More than half of their purchases were soybeans and soybean meal. Other important items were barley and tobacco. Switzerland bought U.S. farm products worth $70 million — wheat, tobacco, cotton, and a large variety of other items. Sweden's total was $61 million; the largest items being tobacco and cotton. Norway bought agricultural items worth $54 million; the largest ones were soybeans, wheat, corn, sorghum grain, and tobacco.

If any of our competitors in world trade devalue their currencies, it would give them the advantage of being able to lower their selling price relative to prices of U.S. farm products. Countries that maintain the closest financial ties with Britain would be the ones most likely to devalue. These nations include New Zealand, Australia, South Africa, and India.

Common Market [EEC] Works Hard To Bar Foods From America

By HAROLD LISTON
Bloomington Pantagraph

BRUSSELS — The European Economic Community (Common Market) has gone to "ridiculous lengths" to bar American imports.

So said an American official whose job it is to interpret Common Market agricultural problems to Americans and to present American opinion to Common Market officials.

Perhaps his attitude was momentarily shaped by the fact that Holland had just applied to the Common Market Commission for a higher levy on imported turkeys.

The American's greying hair would become greyer. It was the day before Thanksgiving, and turkey prices were down in the United States. The export market looked good.

Holland had reacted to protect its own fledgling turkey operation — an operation which had been assisted by American expertise, American financing and, to make the blow even lower, American breeding stock.

The U.S. official was involved in hectic telephoning and cabling, attempting to explain to European Market officials that the turkey levy would create an uproar in the American Congress, a Congress already prepared to penalize European agriculture and industry with more limited import quotas.

The turkey gobbling probably won't reach the proportion of the "chicken war" of 1963, a war which American poultry producers lost to higher import levies sought and gained primarily by Germany. Not only was the U.S. poultry market largely lost in the Common Market, but its ability to sell in non-market countries, such as Austria was badly hurt by export subsidies of the market group.

The Common Market has been a remarkable exercise in European cooperation, the official said, but it is clear that its walls against outsiders are firmer than ever.

Others who discussed the relationship of the American and European economies explain European protectionism in the light of fear — fear of being swept up completely in the U.S. economy. They see the technology and efficiency of U.S. industry and agriculture as a serious threat.

Population The Same
Even though the Common Market countries — Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Germany and Italy — present a population equal to that of the United States, the equality stops there.

The Common Market presents agricultural protections higher than existed in the countries singly before the formation of the pact. The market, as estimable as it may be as one of the bases for European solidarity, is determined to compete in world markets with the United States while making it more difficult for the U.S. to compete there.

Europeans are now convinced that, even with greater efficiency and technology, they will never close the gap with the super-power that is the United States. The goal is to see that the gap grows no greater.

American policy supports a strong Europe. American policy supports an enlarged European Economic Community.

Is this policy in conflict with basic American economic interests? Even those most irritated with the actions of some of our European friends think not.

They think of the long-term aims of U.S. policy. A united Europe, confident of its own salvation, will be less likely, less defensive about the overwhelming power of the U.S. It will be a surer partner, better able to help carry the load, in preserving at least acceptable forms of democratic government in the world.

Anyone may enroll who has interest in grain storage and drying and who will be willing to put in six afternoons going to school this winter.

Those who enroll will be expected to attend all or most of the sessions. Enrollments are now being taken at the Cooperative Extension office. Anyone who would like additional information about the course should contact the Extension office.

4-H Club Activities

Members of the Little Women 4-H club held a hobby show at Centenary Methodist church Nov. 25.

On display were: Rita Carriger's collection of dolls from other lands, troll dolls dressed in handmade foreign costumes, exhibited by Susan Fanning; Ellen Fanning's miniature furniture, a button collection assembled by Kathy Lewis, a sports scrapbook belonging to Mary Ann Slater, stirrers collected by Mindy Slavens; stamp collections owned by Deborah Thomas and Annie Slater and Janet Hayes' current hobby, a kitten.

Deborah Thomas led the pledge to the flag, Kennetha Brown, the 4-H pledge.

Plans for the next meeting, a Christmas party, were completed. Rita Carriger is general chairman for the party, to be held Dec. 9.

MURRAYVILLE — The 4-H Kings and Queens Ag Club, both seniors and juniors, will meet at 6 p.m. Monday, Dec. 4, at the Legion Home for a joint Christmas party.

A gift exchange will follow the potluck supper. Wives of leaders will furnish coffee and hot chocolate. Parents are requested to attend and to have membership cards signed for their children for the coming year.

ASHLAND — The Berea Ag 4-H club met recently at Yatesville school with Raymond Bloomfield presiding.

Participating in the achievement program were Leroy Robinson, Kathy Reiser, Ruth Ann Johnson and Bruce Kinnert. Donald Petefish and Gary Martin gave talks.

Members were reminded to bring food to the next meeting for a Christmas basket for a needy family. A grab bag will also be held.

The December meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 11 at Yatesville School with Robyn and Rocky Ballard serving refreshments.

Challenge Stockmen To Study Situation, Aim For Improvement

GRAND ISLAND, NEB. — Hastings, Iowa, Cattle Feeder Charles Phelps, president of the National Livestock Feeders Association, has challenged the trade group's members to put their heads together and determine how they can lead the livestock industry to realization of necessary prices and reasonable profits.

Phelps presented the challenge before members of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders association in their annual convention in Grand Island.

He told the feeders of a great deal of confusion in the livestock industry today and emphasized the need of crystallizing this confusion into real beneficial solutions. He charged that those in the industry can be idle, accept the status quo and age prematurely, or, he continued, "we can be complacent and 'let George do it'."

He then cautioned that "George" might be the federal government, or integrators, such as those who took over the broiler industry.

President Phelps cautioned that while finding the way to better prices and profits, each individual feeder must show respect for group action, and thereafter follow the recommendations of the group. He added that the feeders must meanwhile keep in mind the danger of driving the consumer away from the meat counter and steering her toward substitute products such as those that imitate meat.

The national trade group's president reminded the Nebraska feeders of several "assets" in the livestock feeding business. He pointed out the continued popularity of red meats and how many other segments of our economy help promote this popularity. He singled out meat research and related improvements in carcass quality as another asset.

At this point, President Phelps reminded the feeders of how they got out of the early 1967 beef price troubles by drastically cutting the average market weights of cattle as had been strongly advocated by their feeders association.

Continuing to name industry assets, Phelps also referred to the proposed new Packers and Stockyards regulation on grade and weight marketing of livestock. He gave special attention to the "Hot Carcass Weighing" portion of the regulation and classed it as a new asset.

Turning to the minus side of the livestock industry's inventory sheet, Phelps topped the list with the problem of getting profitable returns from feeding livestock. He expressed doubt that collective bargaining is the way to deal with this problem, stating that it's one thing to bargain collectively for prices on goods that sit undisturbed on a shelf, and it's something else to bargain while livestock put on more weight in a feedlot or hang as carcasses in a cooler.

Phelps repeated a statement he had made earlier this year in closing his talk and said, "Let's give no thought to the almost futile job of trying to drive a stubborn herd, and instead (as a dedicated trade association) figure out a way to lead it."

If you don't own an automatic dishwasher, here's what you're missing...

You're missing that extra hour each day you could be spending with your family and enjoying worthwhile activities.

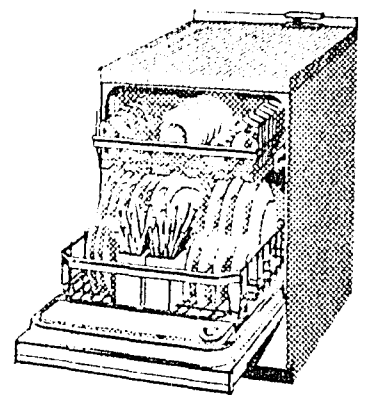

You're missing the health-protecting benefits of truly sanitized dishes, glassware and utensils.

You're missing the advantages of a cleaner sink and counters—with dishes out of sight, kept warm and sanitary until you use them.

LAW on the farm

EASEMENTS PROVIDE USE RIGHTS TO UNOWNED LAND

An easement is a right to use another's property for a particular purpose.

It usually arises by means of a deed or as a result of continued use over a 20-year period. An easement might be a right-of-way for livestock or equipment, a right to flood another's land using a dam, or a right to change the flow of surface waters on another's land.

However, a farmer can prevent illegal use of his land by stopping this use at any time before the end of the 20-year period. Also, he can prevent an easement if he expressly gives his consent to such use of his land.

Therefore, as long as consent is granted, a mere license exists that may terminate at any time and the 20-year prescriptive period does not apply. Government or semi-public agencies, such as a power company, needing an easement across private property must first try to obtain access by agreement with the owner.

If the owner donates the easement, or accepts what is offered and transfers the right, nothing need be done completing transfer formalities.

However, if the owner refuses to convey the right, the agency may begin an eminent domain proceeding, sometimes referred to as a "condemnation" proceeding. Also, eminent domain may be employed when an owner is not able to consent for some reason, such as not being a state resident.

Once an easement has been acquired, it will pass to subsequent landowners and can be lost only by abandonment, adverse use or specific conveyance. Before purchasing land, farmers should find out if the land is subject to easements. Courts have held that easements are limited by the way in which they were used during the prescriptive period.

For example, if an owner acquires a 10-foot easement right-of-way across the north end of a neighbor's pasture 20 feet from the fence, he has the right to use only that land and has no right to cross at any other place or to widen the easement. Whether or not an easement exists in a particular case is often difficult to determine. When substantial property rights become involved, landowners should refer easement questions to legal counsel.

The New York Botanical Garden reports that a new formula spray effectively prevents certain tree and ornamental plant fungus diseases.

In an experiment on a big horse chestnut tree and two tulip trees, the unsprayed half of each tree showed typical symptoms of leaf blotch, a fungus disease that browns leaves, which die prematurely in rainy seasons. The sprayed halves were free of the disease.

Dr. P. P. Phore, garden plant pathologist, also reported the spray effective in preventing purple spot on American hollies and controlling fungus diseases in lawns.

The commercial preparation is a combination of zinc iron and manganese ethylene bisdithiocarbamate. (It is sold as "Fore," by Rohm and Haas, Philadelphia.)

Care should be used to avoid contact with or inhalation of the spray. Fish may also be harmed by the spray.

The preparation was intended primarily as a fungicide for turf. The maker also says it is effective in preventing black spot of roses, botrytis petal rot of chrysanthemums and leaf and flower spot of gladioli. Lawn treatments with it should begin in spring, for major effectiveness.

BIG FLOWER GARDEN — Jamaica, with 3,000 species of flowers in its 1,411 square miles has been described as the world's largest garden. The topography, soil and climate make it easy for virtually anything to grow.

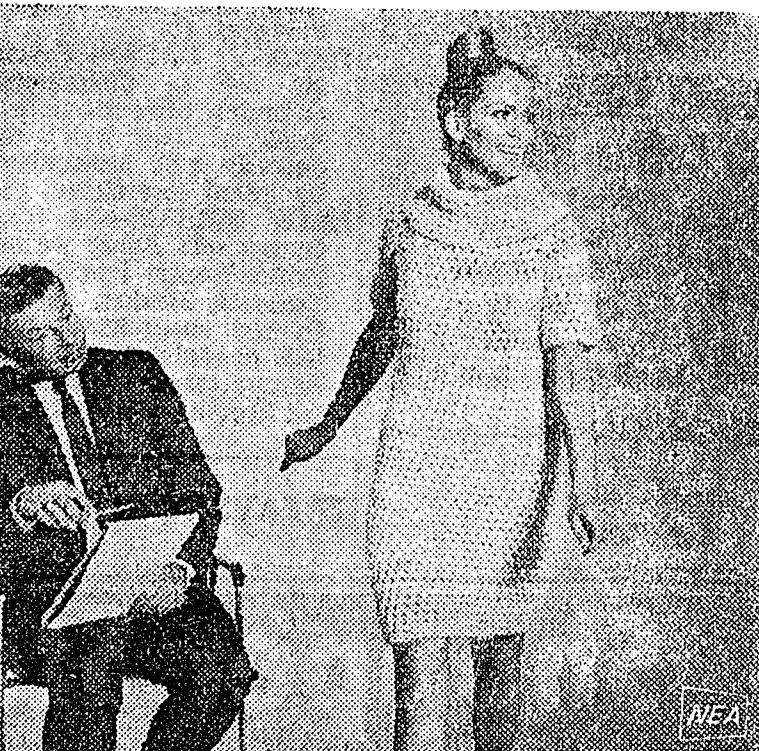

The English made Jamaica a garden late in the 18th Century. Hinton East, a Jamaican of English ancestry, brought in 600 species of flowering plants. His friends joined him, importing flowers from as far as Japan, Sweden and Brazil. Jamaica has many beautiful public gardens.

In growing plants under artificial light, you will have a problem of uniformity unless the plants are of the same variety. You can remedy the situation to a degree by lifting smaller plants on an inverted clay pot base to bring them as close to the light as taller plants.

"Up the Garden Path," by Norman Thelwell (E. P. Dutton) is a collection of cartoons that highlight the constant war between plants and gardeners. The little book is compiled with wit and humor.

Brown pork chops in a skillet, then pour barbecue sauce around them and bake, uncovered, in a moderate oven until they are tender. Baste the chops occasionally with the sauce while they are baking.

The races of man are classified into three major divisions: Caucasoid or white, Negroid or black and Mongoloid or yellow.

Takes Trained Eye To Tell Sexes Apart

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — In the days of the cave man it was easy to tell a man from a woman.

The man was the one who carried the club, who ate first and took the choicest pieces of meat, and wore the warmest furs in winter.

The woman was the one who had lumps on her head, ate the leftovers, and followed three paces or more behind the guy with the big club.

All this has been substantially changed. Civilization steadily tends to iron out the difference between the sexes. They talk and walk and think and act and dress so much alike that it sometimes takes a trained eye to tell them apart.

Despite the trend toward similarity, they can still be classified with fair accuracy by a careful observer.

For example, here are a few guidelines:

If it shows up for breakfast with wire curlers on its head, it's a wife. If it has a cut on its face from shaving and is reading the morning newspaper, it's a husband.

If one says to the other, "Why, you old fool, you," that's grumpy grandma. If it replies placatingly, "Now, Mama, you know you shouldn't talk to me thataway," that's grandpa.

Does it curl its legs up under it when it sits on the sofa? It's a girl. Does it sprawl back on the sofa and stretch out spraddle-legged? It's a boy.

Can it wear a nest of robins in its hair? Put it down as probably a female hippie. Can it wear a nest of robins in its beard as well as its hair? Undoubtedly a male hippie.

Does it wear rubber gloves while doing the dishes? Hi there, Mom! Does it do the dishes bare-handed and curse when it burns its fingers in the hot water? Poor Dad!

If it thinks money grows on a tree, it's a her. If it loyally spends most of its life trying to find that kind of tree for her, it's a him.

If it bends over a coffin and lovingly kisses the dead lips therein, that's the widow. If it just stands wet-eyed by the coffin, glibly whining to its

BROWNIE TROOP HAS INVESTITURE

Members of Brownie Troop 11 held an investiture ceremony at Washington school recently with several guests in attendance.

Participating were Cheri Abbott, Pamela Ballenger, Julie Buckley, Pamela Campbell, Wendy Coulter, Lisa Evans, Kathy Fairfield, Lisa Gillespie, executive. Does it say, "No, let's go dutch"—but really doesn't mean it at all—it's a career woman.

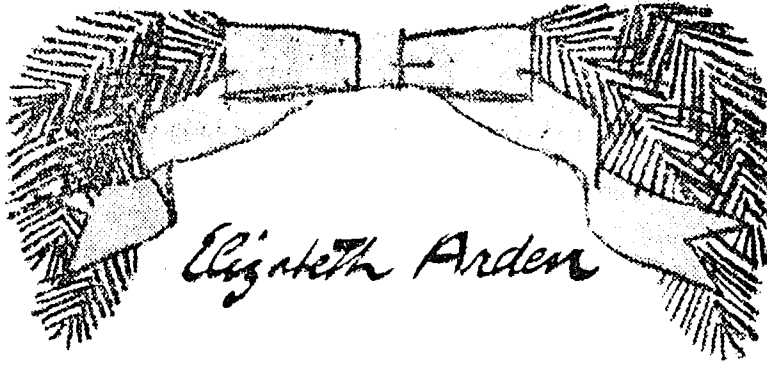

Of course, in an emergency, if you feel it is necessary to know the sex of another person and can't decide, you can take the direct approach and ask the person involved.

If you get your face slapped, it's a woman. If you start bleeding from a punch on the nose, it's a man.

DIVORCE GRANTED
Circuit Judge William Chamblain awarded a final decree of divorce last week in the case of Ruth E. vs. Earl E. Cannon, Sr., on grounds of desertion.

Give pie pastry new flavor. When you are making up the dough for a 9-inch pie, you can add about 1/4 cup of sesame seeds.

For a change in flavor, add curry powder to stewed tomatoes and heat.

News Releases About Servicemen Of Area

USS KEARSARGE (FHTNC) — Airman Apprentice Kenneth E. Nunes, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Nunes Jr., of 828 W. Douglas, Jacksonville, Ill., is serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Kearsarge with the Seventh Fleet in the Gulf of Tonkin.

The carrier coordinates surface and sub-surface surveillance operations. These operations include the tracking and reporting of all friendly and enemy shipping in the Tonkin Gulf.

In addition, the Kearsarge is mail ship for Seventh Fleet craft operating in the area. The Kearsarge is homeported at Long Beach, Calif.

FT. POLK, La. (AHTNC) — Army Private George L. Raines Jr., 22, son of Mrs. Julia F. Barnd, 301 W. Bridgeport, White Hall, Ill., completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training, Nov. 17 at Ft. Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

During his guerrilla training, he lived under simulated Vietnam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on "enemy" villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes and avoiding enemy ambushes.

Other specialized training included small unit tactics, map reading, land mine warfare, communications, and firing the M-14 rifle, M-60 machine gun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

His wife, Helen, lives on Route 2, Jerseyville, Ill.

FT. POLK, La. (AHTNC) — Army Private Robert L. Mc-

Gath, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. McGath, 235 Howe St., Jacksonville, Ill., completed nine weeks of advanced infantry training Nov. 17 at Ft. Polk, La. His last week of training was spent in guerrilla warfare exercises.

During his guerrilla training, he lived under simulated Vietnam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on "enemy" villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes and avoiding enemy ambushes.

All Dolled Up And Looking Great...

Don't Miss the Display of Dolls at Elliott State

Elliott staff members Charlotte Henry and Donna Menge help arrange the display of beautifully dressed dolls in the bank lobby.

Congratulations To Winners in Dress-A-Doll Contest:

Mrs. Louise Mellon, Baylis—Fancy Dress
Mrs. Marie Patrick, 953 E. College—Tailored
Mrs. Mildred Phalen, 1339 Goltra—Bride
Mrs. Edward Wilson, 1315 Elm St.—Knit
Mrs. Russell Wynn, Winchester—Baby Doll

The annual display of dolls is now ready for your enjoyment in the lobby of Elliott State Bank. Each of the 144 beautiful dolls is dressed in a hand-made outfit created by your friends and neighbors to bring delight to a needy little Morgan county girl on Christmas morning. There are bride dolls, baby dolls, skaters, dancers, dolls in ball gowns and in play outfits—more dolls than you'll see assembled in a single display for a long time. Before Christmas, other volunteers will box and gift wrap each doll, so that Santa can place it under the proper tree on Christmas morning. Come in soon while Elliott State is all "dolloed up" for Christmas.

'Small Miracle'

Report Card Means Happy Time For Kids

By MARGARET SCHIERF
Associated Press Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — For dozens of Negro children in a deteriorating South Side neighborhood, report card day means a visit to Mr. T's Record Shop.

Mr. T is Max Tannenbaum, 48, a white shopkeeper who has worked what he calls "a small miracle" among the children of the area. He has induced previously uninterested, unmotivated boys and girls to compete fiercely for good grades.

A jolly, talkative man with thinning hair and a ready smile, Mr. T began about a year ago rewarding good report cards with free records.

It all started when he saw the report card of a 15-year-old boy — "a sharp kid" — who was listening to records in his shop. It contained mostly U's and F's (unsatisfactory or failing).

"Tell you what," Mr. T told the boy. "Next time get all E's and I'll give you $5 worth of records. You pick 'em out. Is that a deal?"

It was. Ten weeks later the boy brought in a new report card. It showed straight E's (excellent).

So Mr. T put signs in each of the 18 apartment buildings on his block announcing that he would give free records for the eight best report cards brought in next marking day.

"Ever since," he said, "kids have been coming and saying, 'Gee, I'm studying hard so I can win some records next time.'"

"The parents come in, too," he added. "They're surprised to see the kids doing their homework and bringing home good test papers."

Mr. T was surprised, too, by the response to his contests.

"I never expected it to turn out as well as it did. It really turned me on," he said.

The contests have cost Mr. T quite a few records and quite a bit of time. He spends several hours each marking day looking over report cards.

"It's so little, though, to do so much good," he said. "The big thing is these kids get some incentive and work up a competitive spirit — that's something there isn't much of around here."

Mr. T opened his music shop of the corner of 47th Street and Ingleside Avenue 22 years ago with a GI loan. The neighborhood was all white then.

When Negroes moved in most white shopkeepers moved out. Mr. T stayed. He's never regretted it.

"I'm in a pleasant sort of business," he said. "People come in and listen to music. They're nice to me and I'm nice to them. We never have any problems."

He wishes other merchants — maybe even the federal government — would take up his contest idea.

"I've seen a lot of money spent foolishly. This doesn't cost much money but it gets results. I'm seeing them myself. But the government could do it in a much bigger way — and get much bigger results — than I can," he said.

Jesse McCann Dies Friday At Age Of 76

Jesse McCann, 76, of 613 N. Main St., who operated a pecan shelling business at his home, passed away Friday evening at Holy Cross hospital where he had been a patient eight weeks.

Born at Milton April 14, 1891, he was the son of Theodore and Lucy Battershell McCann. He was married Dec. 26, 1922 to the former Inez Gollier, who survives.

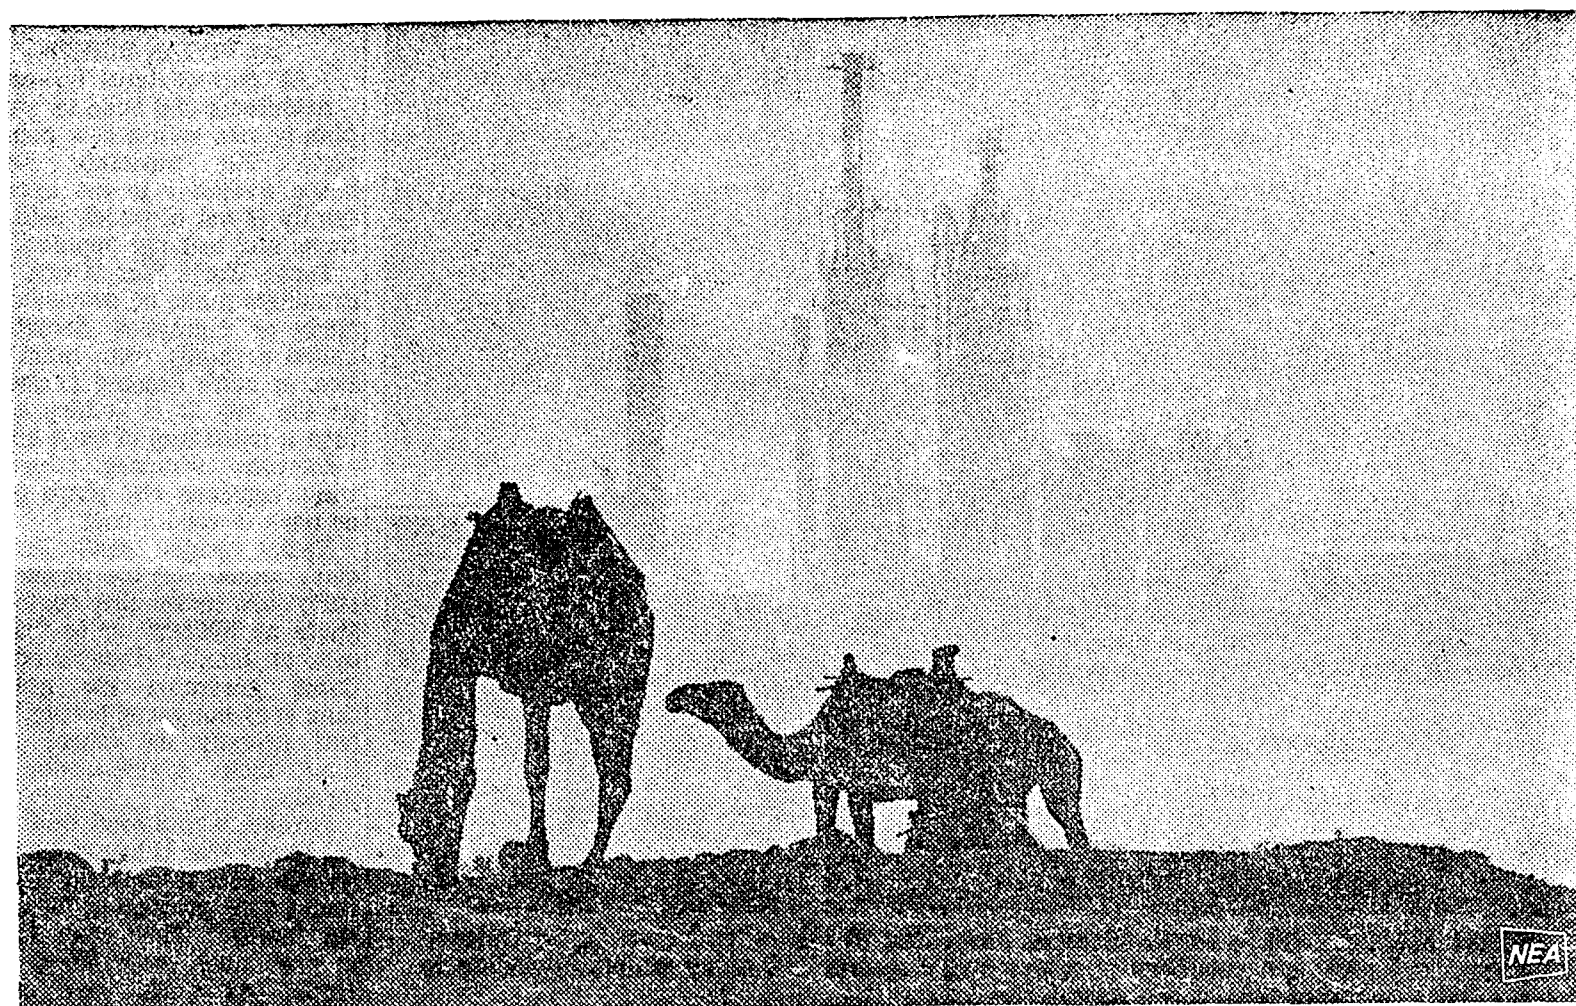

Also surviving is a son, Ted McCann of Virginia; five grandchildren, Philip Lee, serving with the U.S. Navy, Steven, Kyle Ann, Kevin and Richard and one sister, Mrs. C. D. Lewis of Bowling Green, Mo.

Two brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

Mr. McCann served with the U.S. Army during World War One.

Funeral services are scheduled Williamson Funeral Home with ed at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Reverend Joe Maynard of Pittsfield officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Lawn cemetery.

The family will receive friends at the funeral home from 7-9 p.m. Sunday.

NOMADS roam southern Iran today, as they have for centuries, but the landscape has changed. The Iranian government built this $5.5 million cement plant using $1.3 million in U.S. assistance. Facilities like this one have cut the price of cement in half and stimulated construction throughout the country.

THE JONESES

Surveys of women's clubs point up that keeping up with the Joneses is considered more important than 10 years ago. While those in the youngest group questioned felt it was important for their husband's sake, the middle group thought it important for the children's sake. In the 45-and-over group most said it didn't matter, perhaps because they were the Joneses.

There are over a hundred patients and a large group attended the party which is sponsored by the State of Illinois and the White Hall Ministerial Alliance.

Members of the churches here sent cookies for refreshments and each visitor was allowed to choose a gift or trinket which had been donated by local residents.

Therapy games and other kinds of amusement, all part of the program, are eagerly looked forward to by the patients.

Here's How

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Architects and builders should plan homes with a new point of view. The moderate priced house available to the average family is out of whack with our times and teen-age population.

These World War II era type dwellings make no provision for study or recreation. Something called a family room must suffice. It can't because it doesn't do the job. It is nothing more than a noise trap in most homes — someone watching television while someone else plays piano or tries to read a book.

Young people can't find a quiet place in the house to study, one reason they roam "to study at Millie's" or to "sleep over at Joan's." Today's educational pressures are greater than ever but young people have less privacy for school work than their grandparents enjoyed.

Parents who moved into typical World War II houses as new-layeds accept crowded family rooms as a problem of "a growing family." They can't afford to pay much more for a new house, but would have pretty much the same setup in one they could afford. The trend is to accept it until the youngsters go off to college or get married.

If one is strapped for funds to build an addition on a house, one should look around for other alternatives.

For example, does the family car need a better house than teen-agers enjoy?

Put the car out and turn the garage into a recreation room, a place where young people can unleash their energies with basketball, ping-pong table, teen-age parties, dances.

The family room could then be turned into a quiet study. If there isn't a family room, corral space from another area, like a large living room, sometimes merely throwing away junk in an attic and insulating it will provide the answer.

A restful library observed in one house recently had been a sewing room but was like an oasis after all the messy family rooms that one encounters. The 8 by 10 room is walled by bookshelves to the ceiling. There were two small tables, two comfortable chairs, a large dictionary, a globe of the world, a telephone and a carpeted floor that increased the quiet feeling. The teen-agers who use the room are top students. Their mother confided that she doesn't miss the sewing room. She moves her portable machine into the room when they are at school.

Another arrangement in such a room could be to have one large table along the wall where young people could spread out with their school books. Or individual tables could be pulled out of enclosed cabinets below bookshelves.

GREENFIELD CLUB CHRISTMAS POTLUCK TO BE DEC. 13

GREENFIELD — The Greenfield Woman's Club will have its Christmas meeting at St. Michael's Hall, Wednesday, Dec. 13.

The pot-luck luncheon is to be served at 12:30. The 10:00 a.m. meeting as shown in the year book is an error. Members are being reminded to bring their table service.

Mrs. Ruby Postelwaite, Greene county centennial chairman, will talk about Greene county history which will be followed by Greenfield history by a local resident.

Instead of the usual gift exchange, each member is asked to bring something unwrapped which can be given patients at the state hospital for Christmas. This cannot be in a glass container nor anything with sharp edges. Suggestions for gifts are: tooth brush, tooth paste, lotions, beads, earrings, handkerchiefs, candy bars, cookies, etc.

Hostesses are Mrs. Greer Burns, Mrs. James Parks, Mrs. Raymond Bennett, Mrs. C. C. Faith and Mrs. Lee Witt.

ENTERTAINS CLUB

CHANDLERVILLE — Mrs. Paul Abbott entertained members of her contract bridge club at her home Tuesday evening.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Theodore McCullough, Mrs. Alice Marie Davidsmeier, Miss Lula Lovekamp and Mrs. Clara Scott. Also present were Mrs. Lucille Murphy, Mrs. John Pearn, Mrs. James Merwin and Mrs. Virgil Beard.

BURLAP YARN is produced from kenaf, left, a coarse, weedlike plant. New varieties of kenaf introduced by American foreign aid technicians have increased production of burlap, creating new jobs for men and women and making Iran self-sufficient in filling its own fiber and burlap needs.

My Nightly Visitors The Flying Squirrels

By MARJORIE WATT

White Hall, Illinois

One evening, a few years ago, we came home from an outing, and as we approached the steps to our side porch, we heard a scrambling up the nearest tree, and just barely caught a glimpse of a tiny creature disappearing high in the treetop. My, how quick it was! Curiosity held us there to see if it would again appear, and by being extremely quiet and patient, our waiting was rewarded. This was our first year with our nightly visitors — the flying squirrels.

Every year since then, generally in the fall, from out of nowhere come these tiny creatures to feed on the corn I keep on the shelves of that very special tree. As they come only after dark, usually appearing around 6:30 and later, it is hard to see them — so I began to turn on the porch light in order to see them better. They are accustomed to the light now — and come to feed even though I am standing quietly on the porch to catch a glimpse of them. The most amazing sight is to see them sailing through the air and landing with a "plop" on the tree.

Flying squirrels weigh about 3½ ounces. Head and body are about 5 inches long and the tail about 4 inches. Coloration ranges from grayish buff to dark gray or slate. The under side of head, body and gliding membrane is white. It's fur is fine and soft, eyes are large and tail is flattened and shaped much like a feather. Arms and legs are very long, but do not appear so because they are enclosed in the large, loose skin of the body and gliding membrane. The small creature has the appearance, when sitting, of being very fat or of wearing clothes that are much too large for it. Actually, when it stretches the membrane for gliding it takes on an almost square form and is flat. We then see that it is slender and delicate in build.

Flying squirrels are so strictly nocturnal that many people do not know of their existence, even in places where they are common. Few people have seen them, and very few have had the extreme good luck to observe them in the wild. I feel very fortunate, indeed, that I am one of these lucky people.

Usually flying squirrels live among trees, making nests in hollow limbs, old woodpecker holes or other shelters high above the ground. Their movements are not limited to climbing up and down trees or leaping from one object to another, for they are able to glide long distances — as much as 50 yards. To take off, they seek a high point and leap into space. When they spread their legs and arms they appear to be small gliders and steer themselves by raising or lowering their arms. Their tail assists in making the upward swing. When approaching a landing, they swing slightly upward to check their speed and bring their arms and legs forward as shock absorbers. When they light, they dart around to the other side of the tree or limb as a precaution to escape an enemy that might be following.

It is incredible how rapidly they can climb, and prefer the highest spot they can find. They apparently fear resting on the ground more than a minute or so.

No doubt many animals peering into a hole occupied by these tiny creatures have had their eyes or noses scratched. Until a person is accepted as a bit of scenery, they usually remain silent, but when at ease they utter a low chucking note to express pleasure. Sharp chirps mean displeasure as do sharp chirps and squeaks. They emit barks similar to ordinary squirrels, but higher pitched and not so loud, and when annoyed stamp their feet!

Babies are born naked, blind and pink and weigh 88 grains, and on the 25th day, their eyes have opened and they will weigh 1 ounce.

The flying squirrels have been here this fall for a week now, and I make sure each night that there is corn on the tree for them. If the evenings are too cool to stand on the porch, I turn on the porchlight anyway, and watch from the living room window. They scamper down the tree, jump over on the ear of corn to pick off a grain — and quickly disappear. How interesting and entertaining are these little fellows — Mother Nature's little gliders.

FORMER GREENE GIRL SOLOIST FOR ILLINOIS SINGS

A former area girl, Lucy Ann Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Cook of Table Grove, Illinois, formerly of White Hall and the sister of Mrs. Mike (Mary Ellen) Lonergan of Jacksonville, will be one of the soloists in the Monday, Dec. 4th, Illinois Sings. The program will be over Quincy channel 7 and Springfield 20 at 9 p.m.

The program is a musical panorama of Illinois celebrating its sesquicentennial statehood date.

MRS. SUDBRINK ENTERTAINS CLUB AT HOME IN CASS

The Cross Country club met at the home of Mrs. Clifford Sudbrink who lives east of Virginia, recently. The meeting was conducted by the vice president, Mrs. Clifford Sudbrink.

Ten members and the following guests attended: Mrs. Howard Farmer, Mrs. Bill Farmer and Timmy.

Bunco was played during the social hour and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Marvin Sorrell, Mrs. Bryon McGinnis and Mrs. Merrill Masten.

The next meeting will be the annual family Christmas party at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 20, at the Arcadia Community Hall with Mrs. John McGinnis as hostess.

Good quick vegetable dish: heat canned stewed tomatoes with canned drained okra and canned whole-kernel corn. You can use a buffet-size can of the corn with the other vegetables.

Futures Continue Decline; Linked To World Gold Rush

By ED DE MOCH
AP Business Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and grain futures prices again resumed their declines on the Chicago Board of Trade during the week.

The previous week's respite was influenced largely by the international run on gold, which had been generated by Great Britain's decision to devalue the pound sterling. With the run on gold, speculators turned to hedging in futures and this caused a rise in prices.

But when the speculative buying of gold had run out during this week, grain futures prices weakened. When the week's trading had closed Friday:

Wheat was 1/2 to 3 cents a bushel lower, December 1.45 1/2-1.46 1/2; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December 1.14 1/2-1.15 1/2; oats were 1/2 to 3/4 lower, December 1.12 1/2-1.13 1/2; soybeans were 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December 2.65 1/2-2.66 1/2.

Soybean oil prices were 7 to 14 points lower for the week, December 34.43-34.44; soybean meal was 50 to 85 points lower, December 71.80.

The range of prices reflected to a degree the professional mode of trade in the absence of any exports of consequence. Wheat, corn and soybeans prices ranged over 2 to about 2 1/2 cents, while rye prices ranged over 1 to 4 cents and oats had a range of about 1 cent. Soybean oil also tended to reflect the wariness of the trade and moved over a range of 8 to 11 points, while soybean meal ranged over a tight 50 to 150 points.

Notices of intention to deliver December and Friday, when a large Chicago commercial buyer reported acceptance of some 7 million bushels of wheat, prices advanced. However, the greatest advance, nearly 2 cents a bushel, was in the nearby delivery. The others were weak.

Corn futures responded to weather forecasts during the week. Prices had slowed weak Monday, after the selloff following the gold letdown, but a firming trend took over based mostly on weather. Forecasters reported that new snow, rain, or a mixture of both, might again slow down harvesting the largest corn crop on record. Prices advanced about 2 cents a bushel to the end of the week.

The soybean harvest will shortly come to an end in the southern section of the country. The trade noted that more farmers are taking advantage of placing their beans under government loan because prices currently are hovering near the loan prices of 2.50, Chicago. Despite the near-end of the harvest, there was little of any feature in the soybean pit. Hedging against country purchases was at a minimum.

Oats and rye trade also was without feature, prices depending largely on the movement of corn and wheat futures.

Some late-in-the-week commercial buying tended to bring up soybean meal and soybean oil prices, both of which had sagged earlier under active selling.

Volume was 9.75 million shares compared with 8.87 million Thursday.

GM posted a net gain of 1 1/2 to 8 1/2. Chrysler gained 1 1/2 and Ford 5/8 but American Motors lost 3/4.

Of 1,488 issues traded, 726 rose and 528 fell. New highs for the year totaled 57 and new lows 45.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 4 to 31 1/2 with industrials up 1.3, rails up .1 and utilities off .5.

Gains of a point or more were made by other blue chips represented in the Dow Jones industrial, among them Alcoa, General Foods, Procter & Gamble, Texaco and United Aircraft.

News of a price increase by U.S. Steel for cold-rolled products was received cautiously by other steel companies. Both U.S. Steel and Bethlehem closed unchanged but Jones & Laughlin rose 1 1/2 and Republic Steel 1/2.

Eight of the 15 most-active stocks rose, four fell and three were unchanged.

The New York Stock Exchange index gained 26 cents at $52.52.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 4.69 million shares compared with 3.75 million Thursday. The exchange's index rose 32 cents to $22.60.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Slaughter steer prices closed steady to 25 cents per hundredweight higher at the Chicago Stockyards this week, but slaughter heifers and wooled slaughter lambs were steady while butcher hogs declined 50 to 75 cents.

The principal factor in the hog price decline was an increase in receipts.

Hog receipts at Chicago totaled 27,300 head for the week, compared with 23,200 the previous week and 42,000 a year ago. At the 12 principal markets, hog receipts totaled 342,600 head, the largest weekly total in the year, compared with 237,900 the previous week and 345,400 last year.

Cattle receipts at Chicago totaled 24,300 for the week compared with 22,800 the previous week and 29,600 for the same week in 1966. At the 12 major markets, cattle receipts totaled 187,500 for the week, compared with 148,000 the previous week and 208,400 for the same week last year.

Good News From GM Turns Market Slide Into 4th Week Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — Good news for General Motors, the nation's biggest manufacturer, gave the stock market enough of a lift to rescue it from a weekly decline.

President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers gave assurance that any strike against GM would not take place until after the Christmas and New Year holidays. This boosted GM and other blue-chips.

It was the fourth straight weekly advance and, though small, it lent further encouragement to those who anticipate the traditional year-end rally.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week posted a gain of 1.56 points at 879.16. Of 1,619 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 878 rose and 635 fell.

Volume for the week was 51,100,620 shares compared with 46,723,070 shares the previous week.

The week's trading began on a cheerful note. Wall Street was reassured that the international gold pool had pledged itself to maintain the U.S. dollar at the rate of $35 per ounce of gold. After a decline on the preceding Monday because of Britain's devaluation of the pound, prices on the exchange had moved up.

Thursday brought another and more substantial advance. Surprisingly, the Wednesday session brought mixed prices. The market took a fairly steep loss Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week rose 2 to 31 1/2.

The five most active issues last week on the New York Exchange were Occidental Petroleum, off 6 1/4 at 96 1/2 on 769,200 shares; American Motors, up 1 1/4 at 38 1/2; Allis-Chalmers, up 2 1/4 at 13 1/2; Brinswick, up 1 1/4 at 14 1/2; and American Telephone, off 1/2 at 50 1/4.

Higher bond prices at the market's opening last week gradually dwindled as some yields and costs rose to record levels.

Fading hopes for passage of a surtax measure this year played a key role in the price declines, said Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, a Wall Street investment firm.

Dollar Holds Firm But Administration Renews Tax Talks

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Johnson administration rolled out its biggest guns to support its long-standing proposal for a tax increase this past week. And it injected the devaluation of the British pound as an added reason for a boost.

Meanwhile, the U. S. dollar held firm as speculative house buying abated abroad. Demand for gold had rocketed after the Nov. 18 cut in the value of the British pound from $2.80 to $2.40.

Under pressure of the devaluation, the recalcitrant House Ways and Means Committee resumed hearings on President Johnson's proposal for a 10 percent income tax surcharge.

The administration sent Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, to the committee to press its case.

But after hearing them, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., committee chairman, ruled out action on a tax increase this year and suggested that the administration cut more deeply into government spending.

Fowler told the committee that failure of Congress to approve a tax increase would result in "the higher, crueler and unrepeatable tax of inflation, weakened confidence in the dollar, brutally high interest rates and the risk of a return to the old cycle of boom and bust."

Martin agreed with the administration's position that inflation has to be restrained by a tax increase and spending cuts. "Inflation is no longer just a threat—it is a reality," Martin said.

The administration advised the committee it will cut spending by $2.6 billion in addition to reductions of $1.5 billion already made by Congress.

Mills advocated a further reduction in spending of $2 billion to $3 billion.

If other companies join in the boost, the industry's selective price increases this year will have covered nearly 62 per cent of its total output.

The cost of living in October moved to a record high in its ninth consecutive monthly increase. The Labor Department's consumer price index rose to 117.5, up three-tenths of 1 per cent from September and 2.6 per cent from a year earlier.

This meant it took $11.75 to purchase goods and services that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period on which the index is based.

The October increase was due mainly to higher prices for clothing, services and new cars. The United Auto Workers Union began bargaining on a new contract with General Motors Corp. Agreements have been reached with Ford and Chrysler, but local disputes threatened to hamper Chrysler operations.

Prayer Poem

The Little Teacher

By Mary Pence Claywell

I watched a little squirrel today,
Quite busy, storing nuts away.
He knows the winter day will come,
And that it wouldn't be much fun
To leave his nest, in some big tree,
And sally forth . . . to hunt for feed.
Now sometimes, we are indolent,
Until the Autumn is far spent;
We eat of "fruit" that's plentiful,
Until we get our "stomachs" full . . .
But seldom, now . . . do many try
To store some up . . . for BY-AND-BY.
When trees are bare, and everything
Feels all the hardships, winter brings:
The little squirrel, Lord, seems to know,
He should be ready for the snow . . .
And as he fills his STORAGE BIN,
It seems, Lord, we might learn . . . from him:
I'm thinking now . . . as dreamers would,
That maybe, Lord, You Meant we SHOULD,
And as I watch him, day by day,
I feel YOU MEAN IT . . . JUST THAT WAY!

ABOVE AVERAGE
SHEPHERDSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — On a recent trip, Jimmy Hardy stopped at a swanky hotel, where the bellboy escorted him to his room.

"What's the average tip?" asked Hardy.

"Oh, about $5," answered the boy.

Hardy handed over the money and the boy went into a dance. Then the boy explained, "You're the first person to come up to average!"

Let's Go Birding

Winter In Autumn

By Emma Mae Leonhard

It was October 28. Fall bird migration had been moving along in somewhat a disorderly fashion. Naturally most of the warblers had come and gone, but flocks of Myrtle Warblers were still sparkling the gray days of cloudy autumn.

Supposedly all swallows and swifts had gone to the place of many insects, but a Rough-winged Swallow still remained and grumbled at the scarcity of food. All sensible flycatchers had left except a lone Wood Pewee that complained from its perch. Robins and Bluebirds were still dining on the abundant fruits. Weren't they all aware of approaching winter?

On the other hand, it seemed as if an early and long cold winter was threatening the birds and us. Some birds from the North had already come down to us earlier than usual. We had seen several Winter Wrens. Flocks of winter-loving Juncos and a few Tree Swallows were already taking over weed patches. Geese - Blue, Snow, and Canada - had been moving for some time. A Pine Siskin had flown in.

Geese In Formation
On this morning we had decided to check the fields near Snicater where we had found hundreds of geese last winter. Even before we approached the place, we heard the nasal tones of geese and saw strings and V-formations and some irregular flocks of Snows and Blues flying over an extensive cornfield. As they lowered their formations, they shifted; examined the fields below them; and lowered themselves, in turn, to the edge of a wheatfield bordering the corn.

A long line of geese, white ones with black wing-tips, and blue ones with white heads and necks, stretched out like a double seam between the winter wheat and the summer corn. Small flocks continued to move in and reinforce the elastic seam.

American Pipits
We soon ignored this bird picture for a more modest but more significant one for us. We heard American Pipits far overhead and soon saw a loose flock of these trim brown birds light gracefully in the wheat field hemmed in by the geese and become a part of the field.

Had we not heard or seen them, we would have been unaware of these winter harbingers calling early this fall. As we examined the place of their landing, we detected little forms running about rapidly over the equally brown plowed ground, now on a cloud and soon hidden in a furrow.

It wasn't long until a few Pips moved closer to us. We could easily observe their slender bills and dark legs, their buffy underparts with streakings, and their white outer tailfeathers. A few walked to the edge of the road in front of us to peck at the gravel; they constantly wagged their tails as Pips do.

The dry rattle of two Lapland Longspurs struck our ears, a cold-weather bird calling very early. Some Horned Larks tinkled from the same field. Here was a picture of winter in autumn.

PUZZLING PROBLEM

By John Rankin

Part 2: City Feller?
Thad meets a hunter who asks him for directions. Thad is especially interested in the man's fine hunting rifle.

"About a mile back on Nob Ridge above Crow Valley," he answered without looking up.

"But you haven't told me your name."

"You ain't asked me?" "Okay. Davis looked amused. "Okay. I'll ask you now."

The youth dug the heel of a grubby boot into the leaf-matted soil momentarily and then looked up to peer searchingly at the stranded hunter. "Name is Thad. Last name Tolbert," he said quietly.

Crackshot
"Who are you, Mister? A city feller, maybe?" Davis laughed. "That seems to fit me pretty well at the moment," he said, reaching out to give the boy a friendly pat on the shoulder. "That's a real fine kill of squirrels you've got there, Thad. You must be a crack-shot to bag five of 'em."

The boy's dark eyes sparkled with pride. "Shucks! Could a done a heap better but I only had five shells. Ma couldn't spare the price for more. There's scarce enough money for such things as 'tis since Pa got laid off at the sawmill."

Davis selected a bill from his wallet and offered it to the boy. "This will buy a lot of shells," he said, "and I have a pretty special need for those squirrels you have there."

Too Much Money
The slightly built youngster looked at the banknote and gulped. "I can't take it, Mister," he said flatly. "Ten dollars is a heap too much and us Tolberts don't 'cept handouts from folks."

"But this is not a handout. It's a business transaction," Davis assured him. "You see, I have a very special need for those squirrels, and if you'll promise to keep a secret I'll even throw this brand new rifle into the deal. You will keep your word and not tell anybody about finding me out here, won't you?"

With his dark eyes glowing excitedly and his lean features wreathed in smiles, the youth leaned over to run his fingers over the shiny barrel of the rifle. Then he straightened up to give Davis a solemn look and said, "A Tolbert always keeps his word! It's a deal, Mister."

A little while later Thad was fairly bubbling over with joyful glee as he pushed through the dense forest on his way home. He'd left his old gun in a safe hiding place and would return for it later. He wasn't concerned about that now anyway. The banknote in his pocket and the shiny new rifle tucked under his arm seemed a rich reward for finding the generous "city feller" lost in the woods and guiding him safely back to his lodge.

Nightfall
Shadows of approaching nightfall were closing in as Thad emerged from the woods and turned down a narrow, hilly road toward home. He had made only a few hurried strides, however, when the headlights of an approaching car brought him into full view as it came bouncing over a hill up ahead.

The car slowed down, stopped with a screeching sound and the driver got out. His manner was direct, and even in the gathering dusk the badge on the front of his shirt told Thad that he was a police officer.

"Where'd you get that rifle, boy?" he asked pointedly.

"I bargained for it, sir, but I can't tell you more than that," the boy replied with complete innocence.

Teen Scene

In Your Opinion

By Christine Hembrough

These are a series of questions that I have concocted. Since I want to find out a few things about the average every day ordinary teenager, I have picked YOU.

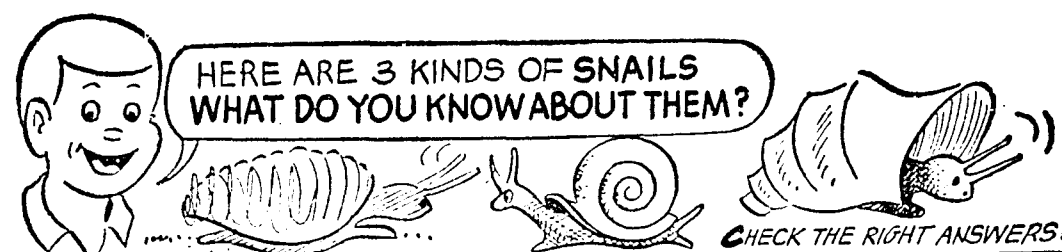

Why? Because, there is a wide audience of you. Also, if you are no longer a teenager, please participate also, and answer as if you were a teen, in your time. Please send these in, and then I will give you the results - and this is going to be lots of FUN.

So come, on here's your chance to voice YOUR OPINION in a city-wide poll.

Mark Your Answer

1. Do teenagers get smarter daily? Yes—No—
2. What evidence, have you for the above answer? Education—Science—Morals—Other—
3. Do most teenagers smoke? Yes—No—
4. Why?—
5. Is it safe to allow teenagers to drive? Yes—No—

LIFE ON VENUS?

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

Part 2: Intelligent Plant?

Since Venus' atmosphere is considerably more dense than earth's, nearly 4,400 pounds per square inch, larger forms of life could exist on Venus. These forms would take in carbon dioxide and give off oxygen, like plants on earth. However, they would be free moving rather than rooted like earth plants. This freedom of motion might give them the chance to develop intelligence.

Floating would not be the only difference between Venusian and earth life. If the Venusians could see ultra violet light, which penetrates the clouds, they would see a very different end of day from earth. Instead of setting the sun would appear to dissolve as it dropped low in the eastern horizon. A glow spreading around the horizon would pervade the foggy night until the sun apparently condensed on the western horizon, about 54 earth days later.

A Venusian day is 242 earth days, 14 hours and 24 minutes long. The landscape below the Venusian would also appear ball-shaped rather than dome-shaped.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Walking for pleasure in England during the 18th and 19th centuries required gentlemen to make some curious concessions to prevailing notions of propriety. The World Almanac notes that it was a mark of vulgarity tolerable only in tradesmen to walk too briskly, and it was the custom to carry an umbrella while walking to indicate that one was a gentleman, not a tramp.

Quick Alton Club Breaks Away In 4th

By BUFORD GREEN
Sports Editor

A 16-2 scoring spree broke open what had been a tight but see-saw battle and shot a lightning-quick Alton club to a decisive 94-79 victory over Jacksonville, in the Crimson's home opener Saturday evening.

Ahead by only one point after three periods, the visiting Redbirds ripped off six quick points to start the fourth, then rammed in ten straight after a JHS bucket, in the space of one minute and a half to jump to a 79-64 distance that was never threatened.

Until the fourth quarter Jacksonville's Duane Mounts and Bob Esslinger had been able to keep the Crimson in the game, and even pushed JHS to an 11-point lead halfway through the second period. The same duo and Gerry McKean managed to keep Jacksonville within one after three frames despite some red-hot Alton shooting in the third round.

Both clubs fired a hot 47% rate, but Alton commanded the boards to the tune of 47-29, 19-7 after three periods. In the decisive 16-2 scoring spurt early in the fourth quarter Hardimon, Jeffries and Huff each tossed in six points to lead the charge from which Jacksonville never recovered.

Alton had plenty of offensive punch, with four players hitting well into double figures. Jumping-jack forward Mike Jeffries rammed in 31 points, including ten points on tips alone; guard Bob Hardimon tossed in 19, ten in the second half; Sonny Willis threw in all his 18 points a red-hot second half, hitting eight of 12 from the floor; and center Dan Huff contributed 16, ten in the second half.

Statistics	JHS	Alton
Shooting	31-65 47.6%	37-78 47.4%
Rebounding	JHS—29 (7 off; 22 def)	Alton—47 (19 off; 28 def)
Turnovers	JHS—21	Alton—25

It was a two-man scoring effort for the losers, now 0-2, with Mounts playing brilliantly in a 28-point evening, and 6-6 center Bob Esslinger adding 26. McKean just made twin figures with ten.

The lead changed hands ten times in the first quarter, with Mounts carrying JHS and Jeffries holding a hot hand for Alton. Trailing 21-19 after eight minutes, Jacksonville hit a hot Pickens Saturday and won its split and zoomed to a 29-21 Southeastern Conference spread with the first ten points of the second round. The Crimson got a spark from reserve Rod Simonds, who came on to steal the ball four times to lead to eight of the ten points.

JHS Leads By 11
Later in the second chapter Mounts and McKean stuffed in six quick points to mount the difference to 35-24. After that Alton regained its composure and scored 13 of the next 15.

Pittsfield Rips Triopia 78-48 For 3rd In Row

PITTSFIELD — The Saukees, behind the scoring efforts of Don Jenkins and Fred Grote, trounced Triopia 78-48, here Friday night.

Pittsfield grabbed a 12-point lead in the first quarter, which they had expanded to 25 by the half. They coasted from there to an easy win. Triopia, however, did outscore the Saukees' second team, 14-13 in the last period.

The Redbirds seem to have trouble hitting from the field. Pittsfield made 62 points, while Triopia completed only 40.

There was little difference in fouling. Pittsfield violated 13 times, while the Redbirds fouled 14 times. The Saukees, however, doubled the Redbird's quarter touchdown that gave score from the foul stripe, 16-3. Alabama a 7-3 football victory over arch-rival Auburn.

Jenkins	11	0	22	The eighth-ranked Crimson Tide, headed for the Cotton Bowl, clinched second place in the Southeastern Conference standings with the victory, although Auburn dominated play, and allowed Alabama only two first downs before Stabler's run.

Rose Downs IC Again

SURROUNDED: Ed Wingler (12) and Duane Mounts contest Alton's Mike Dean near the visitors' basket Saturday night. Mounts stashed away 28 points but Alton's quick and hot-shooting outfit rolled to a decisive 94-79 victory over the Crimson.

Ellis Makes Finals

Decisions Bonavena

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jimmy Ellis knocked Oscar "Ringo" Bonavena down twice Saturday and went on to a tight but unanimous decision over the pride of the Argentine in their 12-round semifinal bout in the World Boxing Association championship elimination.

Ellis, a one-time sparring partner for deposed champion Cassius Clay, felled Bonavena in the third and 10th rounds in the grueling fight.

Ellis' only mark was a cut over his left eye, suffered early in the eighth round.

In winning, Ellis, 27, is only one fight away from his goal—the heavyweight championship of the world.

His next bout will be against the winner of the Jerry Quarry-Thad Spencer bout on Feb. 3 at Oakland, Calif.

Ellis, fighting before a hometown crowd, came in a home-ward while the bull-strong, awkward Bonavena weighed 206½.

Bonavena, 25, almost overpowered the Louisville boy with his strength and had Ellis in trouble later in the fight, which was telecast nationally by the American Broadcasting Company.

A classic boxer, Ellis started strong but seemed to slow down near the end. He was clinching and hanging on but Bonavena was unable to capitalize on the advantage.

Bonavena, who started his professional career in this country, took the decision with little emotion and was embraced by his handlers.

It was a combination of rights and lefts to the head, thrown by the champion of Argentina, that opened the cut over Ellis' eye in the eighth round.

But by the time the ninth had opened, the cut had stopped bleeding and Ellis, the son of a Baptist minister, seemed to have shaken off its effects.

Dallas-Baltimore Heads NFL's Card

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Dallas Cowboys, coming off one of their best offensive showings of the season, take on the unbeaten Baltimore Colts and the improving New York Giants meet the Cleveland Browns in games that highlight the National Football League program Sunday.

The Cowboys can clinch the Capitol Division title of the circuit's Eastern Conference by defeating the Colts. A victory for the Giants would enable them to tie the Browns for first place in the Eastern Conference's Century Division.

The Colts, 9-0-2, are host to the Cowboys, 8-3, while the Falcons, 6-5, are at Cleveland, 7-4.

In other games on a full slate, Atlanta, 1-9-1, is at Los Angeles, 8-1-2; Philadelphia, 5-6, is at Washington, 4-5-2; Green Bay, 8-2-1, is at Minnesota, 3-6-2; New Orleans, 2-9-0, is at St. Louis, 5-5-1; Chicago, 5-6, is at San Francisco, 5-6; and Pittsburgh, 2-8-1, is at Detroit, 3-6-2.

Green Bay already clinched the title in the Western Conference's Central Division while Baltimore holds a one-game lead over Los Angeles in the same conference's Coastal Division.

A classic boxer, Ellis started strong but seemed to slow down near the end. He was clinching and hanging on but Bonavena was unable to capitalize on the advantage.

By TOM GIFFEN

Jerry Wones' jumper put Rose Poly ahead for good in the waning minutes Saturday evening as the Fighting Engineers outlasted Illinois College 90-87, on the Blueboys' floor in the opening Prairie College Conference game for both teams.

The Blueboys had just taken a brief 85-84 lead with 2:50 left when Wones scored making the score 86-85 with 2:40 left to play.

Using a stall and 10 intentional fouls, Rose built a 90-87 lead. Dave Yeager, Don Johnson and Jim Tucker led the game, hitting four of five shots from the charity stripe.

With eight minutes left to play, Illinois College led by one 74-73. Don Ings, made a lay-up for Rose and was fouled in the process of shooting by Dennis Baker. A technical foul was then called on IC coach Bill Merris for his verbal disagreement with a call down the floor.

Ings sank both free throws, and Rose had the ball again. Ings made another lay-up, finishing a six-point play for the Engineers. The score stood at 79-74 with 7:20 left in the game.

Moss Ties Game

Rose Poly held the lead until 4:03 when Robin Manker sank a jump shot tying the game at 82-82. Wones' bucket put Rose ahead again with 3:31 left to play.

Charlie Martin, fouled by Johnson, hit the first of a one-and-one situation, and Dan Runkle scored giving IC the lead for the last time with 2:50 to play.

Following Wones' go-ahead bucket, a missed IC shot was rebounded by the Engineers and the ball was brought back down the floor. Kevin Lawrence stole the ball from Yeager with 1:56 left, but Rose retreated and kept Lawrence from making the layup. Lawrence finally missed a jumper from the corner with 1:27 left.

Rose rebounded and went into a stall. Manker fouled Yeager, and the Blueboys got the ball back after he made the free throw. Dan Runkle then missed a long shot and Rose rebounded with 22 seconds left. Martin fouled both Johnson and Tucker in the ensuing seconds in an attempt to get the ball for the Blueboys.

Off To Slow Start

Illinois College, looking for revenge against the same team that beat them in the finals of the Prairie College Conference tournament last weekend, found the going hard in the early part of the game. The lead exchanged hands frequently in the second half.

After holding an early 8-7 lead, The Blueboys were not ahead until Dan Runkle converted on a 3-point play with 2:10 left in the first half.

The lead returned to Rose and the Engineers held a 53-51, half-time edge on the strength of buckets by Ings, Wones and Jim Pettee.

Ings, who scored on the Blueboys in their previous encounter, picked up 32 points to lead all scorers. He hit on 14 of 29 shots from the floor.

Rose added three more starters in double figures: Wones with 20 points, Pettee with 15 and Yeager with 11.

Martin led Illinois College scorers with 26 points. He sank 11 of 21 attempts. Kevin Lawrence added 23 points and Dan Runkle hit 13 markers.

Even From Floor

Both teams were about even from the floor for the game. The Blueboys, after hitting over 50 percent the first half, ended up with 43.9 per cent from the field.

Cards Must Win

St. Louis must beat New Orleans to remain in contention in the Century Division. The third-place Cards still have games remaining against the Browns and Giants. Johnny Roland, the league's No. 2 rusher, needs 267 yards in St. Louis' last three games to reach the 1,000-yard mark.

Steven Spatter, the 1966 Heisman Trophy winner, may start again at quarterback for San Francisco against the Bears. Spatter completed 10 of 24 aerials against Baltimore a week ago. Chicago's fine defense limited Green Bay to 71 yards rushing last week.

The Steelers' visit to Detroit will be their first since 1962, when the Lions won 45-7. Pittsburgh beat Detroit 17-3 a year ago at home.

MILLIKIN ROMPS

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — Jesse Price poured in 32 points Saturday night to lead Millikin to a 100-78 opening victory over Western Illinois.

Millikin grabbed a 49-32 halftime lead and remained in command the rest of the way as Western suffered its second loss of the season.

Southern Cruises Past Highlanders

CARBONDALE — The defending NIT champion Salukis used a big first half to crush the MacMurray Highlanders, 78-51, here Saturday night. SIU jumped right off to a 9-4 lead, which they had expanded to 46-21 by the half.

Shooting from the floor told the tale, with the Salukis hitting 34 field goals for 54 per cent. MacMurray netted 21 baskets for 32.3 per cent. SIU's tremendous man-to-man also helped to keep Mac's shooting down.

Both teams took an equal number of shots from the free throw stripe. SIU made ten of their 13 for 76.9 per cent. MacMurray made nine for 69.2 per cent. SIU committed 13 fouls. MacMurray had 11.

Willie Griffin, Jay Westcott and Chuck Benson scored in double figures for the highly rated Salukis. Griffin had 14 points, while Westcott and Benson each had 12. Dennis Desmond had 13, to be the only Highlander in the 'FG FT TP'.

'Crucial Sunday' Today In The AFL

By the Associated Press — It's Crucial Sunday — an important stepping stone to Super Sunday — in the American Football League's Western Division.

Oakland risks its slim one-half game lead against the San Diego Chargers in the AFL's key game Sunday. With only three more games after this one, the Raiders-Chargers showdown is vital for both clubs.

The winner will take a giant step towards the Western crown, the AFL title game and a shot at the Super Bowl. Charger Coach Sid Gillman obviously had that in mind when he talked about Sunday's game. "It will take a maximum effort," said Gillman. "We must come up with a super game."

Elsewhere in the AFL Sunday, Denver is at New York, where the Jets hope to pad their Eastern edge. Buffalo is the Kansas City and Miami visits Houston.

The Raiders routed San Diego 51-10 the first time these two West Coast rivals met, with Clem Daniels gaining almost 200 yards running and catching passes.

But Daniels is out with a broken ankle and Oakland Coach John Rauch wants his club to forget that first meeting. "That 51-10 game never happened," says Rauch. "It was just a case of getting the breaks on some big plays. No, you can't look at the score in that game and learn anything."

Defensively, the Raiders boast the AFL's top unit — a group they like to call "11 angry men." They lead the league in all three major defensive categories and have dropped opposing quarterbacks 60 times in 10 games.

San Diego, ranked No. 1 in offense, features the running of rookie Dick Post and the passing of John Hadl, who'll have his favorite target, Lance Alworth, back in action. Alworth missed last Sunday's 24-20 squeaker against Denver with a leg injury.

In the East, New York, leading by one game over Houston, comes off a bye against Denver, which has to use backup quarterback Jim McIlhenny instead of regular Steve Tensi, who was troubled by muscle spasms in his back during the week. The Broncos have won the game and lost three others by a total of 10 points in the last four starts.

Tensi and Al Denson have teamed up as a dynamic passing combination and rookie Floyd Little is Denver's main threat along the ground. The Jets have two dangerous pass receivers in flanker Don Maynard, tied for the AFL lead with Oakland's Hewitt Dixon at 50, and split end George Sauer. Quarterback Joe Namath makes good use of both with a liberal supply of work for tight end Pete Lammons and back Bill Mathis and Matt Snell.

Houston, trailing the Jets by one game, has allowed only 12 touchdowns all year. The Oilers' offense has been concentrated on the ground with Hoyle Granger, who gained 124 yards in last week's 27-6 victory over Boston, doing most of the running.

The Dolphins snapped an eight-game losing streak by nipping Buffalo 17-14 in the last minute a week ago. Miami beat Houston both times these teams met last year—the Dolphins' first in the AFL.

Kansas City was eliminated from the Western race by Oakland last week but the Chiefs still have a tough attack headed by Len Dawson, the league's leading passer, and Mike Garrett, the No. 2 rusher.

The Bills, last year's Eastern champs, have helped Denver and Miami end long losing streaks in the last two games.

Big 10 Coaches Choose Indiana, Purdue Champs

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten basketball coaches foresee Indiana and Purdue as co-champions this season. Their vote was announced today. The coaches named Wisconsin for third place and Iowa fourth, followed in order by Michigan State, Ohio State, Northwestern, Michigan, Minnesota and Illinois.

In another ballot, Midwest basketball writers made Indiana No. 1 and Purdue No. 2 in the race. Others, in order, were Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan State, Ohio State, Northwestern, Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Kentucky's Wildcats, taking advantage of numerous Michigan floor errors, took the lead in the first three minutes of play and went on to dump the Wolverines 96-79 Saturday in the college basketball opener for both teams.

The game was the first ever played in Michigan's new $7.5 million University Events Building which had been completed earlier this week. Mike Casey, Kentucky's high-lytouted sophomore guard, led both teams in scoring with 28 points.

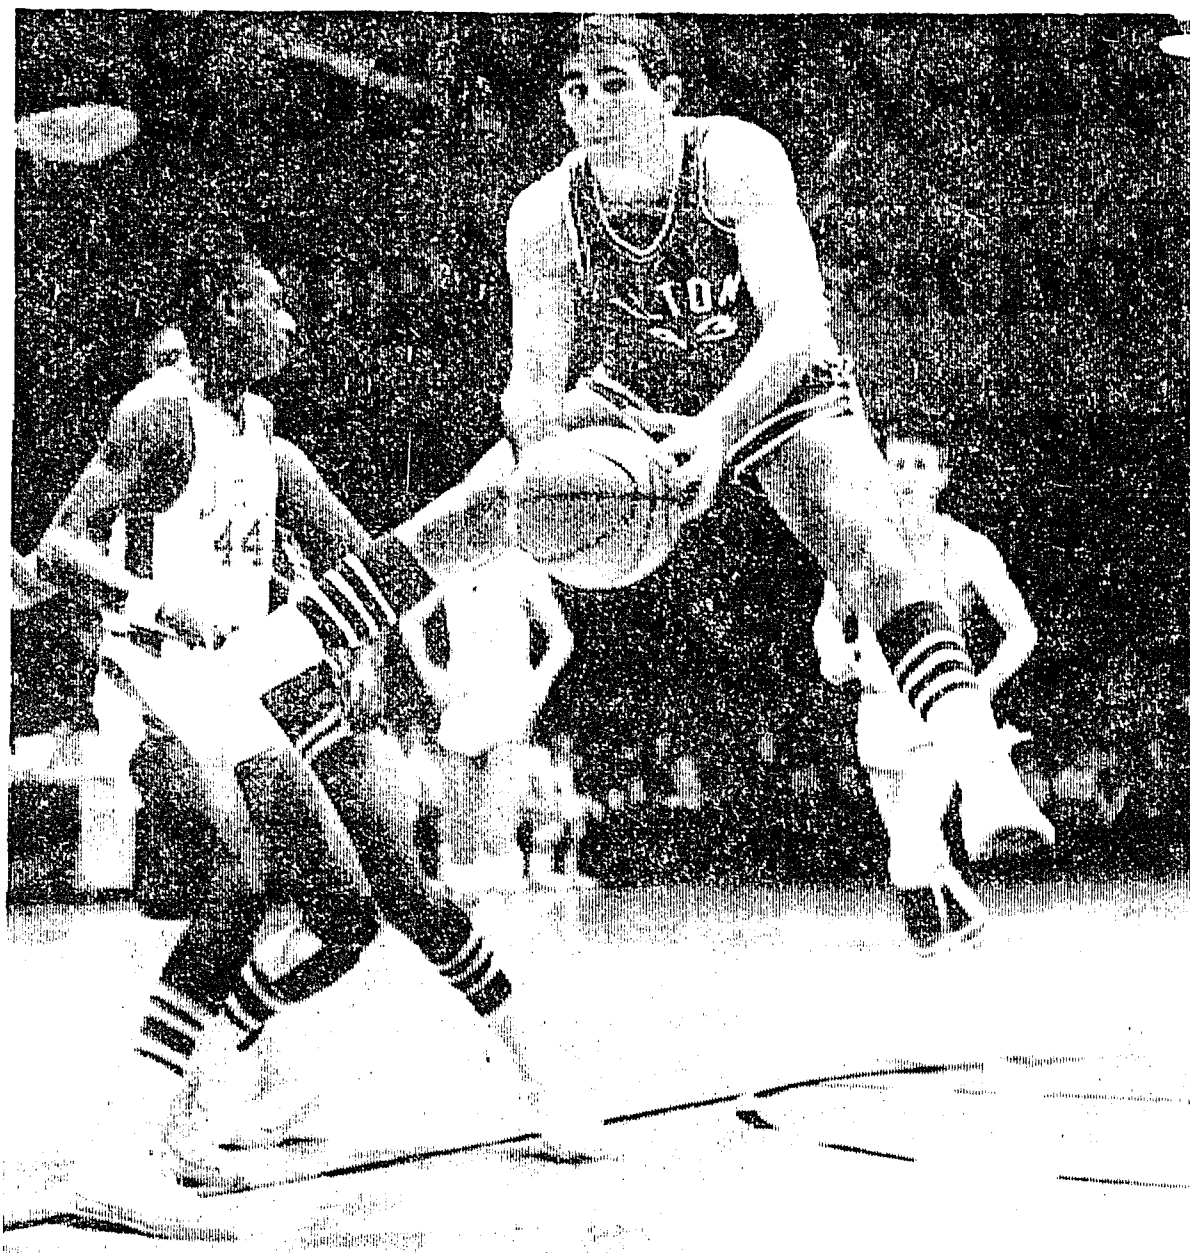

The Wildcats, who finished with a 13-13 record last season, causing alumni grumblings about the abilities of aging head coach Adolph Rupp, led by as many as 20 points in the romp. The Wildcats led at the half 49-32.

Two other Wildcats scored in double figures — Dan Issel with 18 and Phil Argenito with 12. Rudy Tomjanovich, Michigan's 6-foot-7 sophomore protegee, topped the Wolverines with 17 points.

Michigan, which finished with an 8-16 mark last year, and a dismal 2-12 Big Ten record, showed power on rebounding but its sloppy floor play and the Kentucky defense proved too much to overcome.

Capt. William S. Busik, Navy's athletic director for three years through 1964, is now stationed at Pearl Harbor.

The first major league baseball pitcher to wear glasses was Bill White of the Boston Braves in 1877.

DEFENSE: Alton's Mike Dean spread-eagles in receiving this pass as Jacksonville's Duane Mounts move into the action. Play came in first half of Alton's 94-79 win over Jacksonville in the Crimsons' home-opener Saturday night.

Shortstops And Pitchers Hot Items In Trade Mart

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Shortstops and starting pitchers were the hot items on the Mexican baseball trade mart with such big names as Zolo Versalles and Luis Aparicio changing uniforms in 13 transactions involving a total of 33 players and 14 of the 20 big league clubs.

The biggest wheelers and dealers were the Baltimore Orioles, Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs, each of whom made three deals or sales. The only American League team that did not get into the swing was Oakland, National League clubs who did not were Atlanta, Houston, Philadelphia, San Francisco and St. Louis.

The Dodgers' acquisition of shortstop Versalles and right-handed pitcher Mudecat Grant from the Minnesota Twins for catcher John Roseboro and re and Bob Miller involved the most glamorous names. Walter Alston counts on Versalles to bounce back from a 200 year to fill the shortstop for Michael from the Dodgers.

In their only other deal they bought first baseman John Boccabella from the Cubs for their Syracuse, N.Y., farm of the International League.

Pittsburgh and Detroit swapped relief pitchers, the Pirates sending Dennis Ribant, a part time starter, and bunter man, to the Tigers for Dave Wickens.

The New York Mets' only activity was announced here but actually amounted to the completion of deals made previously. The Mets got catcher J. C. Martin from the White Sox in last summer's deal for Ken Boyce, and sent right-handed pitcher Bill Denney to Washington to complete the transaction by which Gil Hodges became the new Met manager.

The groundwork for more deals probably was laid at the meetings because many clubs still have dire needs.

HAVANA — Havana jumped to an early lead and raced to a 69-47 decision over Balyki here Saturday night.

Mike Noble, Dennis Speckter and Greg Andrew paced the Ducks' attack with 15, 14 and 13 points respectively.

The McDaniel brothers led the Thunderbirds with 14 and 12 points.

CHICAGO (AP) — Carmie Johnson, 19, virtually paralyzed from the neck down by a football injury some 18 months ago, died of complications Saturday in Cook County Hospital.

Johnson's neck was broken May 14, 1965, in a Wendell Phillips High School game against Alton.

He recovered slight use of his arms and had resumed high school studies with the aid of a tutor when he was admitted to the hospital Aug. 18 for an ulcer.

Subsequently he developed a bone infection and pneumonia. Johnson, Negro, lived at 706 E. 39th St., in the Southwest Side.

SCHOFIELD RELEASED ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dick Schofield has been given his outright release by the Los Angeles Dodgers and will try to win a job in spring training with the St. Louis Cardinals, the St. Louis Globe Democrat reported Friday night.

Schofield, an infielder, signed a $40,000 bonus contract with the Cardinals in 1963 and has played for Pittsburgh, San Francisco, and the New York Yankees as well as the Dodgers.

Michael To Yankees The Yanks, who had hoped to land Aparicio in an involved three club swap with the Detroit Tigers and Orioles had to settle racing in the area.

Navy Salvages 19-14 Count Over Army

19-0 Lead Threatened At Finish

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Cartwright, a ball-faking Houdini, and Jeri Balsly, running like a berserk ghost, made a shambles of Army's vaunted defense for three periods, but it took a guard to save a 19-14 victory for Navy Saturday in the 68th inter-service football rivalry.

Behind 19-0 and frustrated at every turn by the fired-up underdog Middles, Army's Cadets came to life under sub quarterback Jim O'Toole for two dramatic touchdowns in the final nine minutes of the game.

Army was driving for another score—a possible winning one—when a short Navy kick gave the Cadets the ball on the Middles' 27.

They moved to the Navy 23 from which fullback Charley Jarvis, a hero in Army's 20-7 triumph a year ago, fumbled the ball. It was recovered by Ray DeCaro, Navy's middle guard, on the 20.

Spectacular Passing Cartwright, giving a spectacular performance of passing, ball-handling and play-calling, took over from there and marched the team 59 yards to the Army 20 before the final gun sounded.

Navy took command from the moment John Church kicked a 29-yard field goal at 6:29 of the first period after a 36-yard pass from Cartwright to his favorite receiver, Roy Taylor.

Later in the opening quarter, Dan Pike plunged over from the one after a 45-yard march, and early in the second period Navy smashed 82 yards for another touchdown. Balsly plunging through the middle for the final 13 yards.

The Midshipmen made it 19-0 in the early minutes of the fourth period when Nick Kurilo, Army's punter, fumbled a low pass from center in his own end zone and was smeared by Navy captain, Bill Dow, for a safety.

It was at this point that Army Coach Tom Cahill threw O'Toole in to the quarterback slot for his ace, Steve Lindell, credited with leading the Cadets to a fabulous 58-1 record this year before the BARRY — Hot free throw shooting, especially in the fourth quarter, carried Bluffs to its second straight victory, a 69-53 decision over Barry, here Saturday evening.

Bluffs hit 27 of 35 gift shots during the win, including several when Barry pulled to within seven points with four minutes left in the game.

The winners, now 2-1, were led by Jerry Schmitz and Dan Littig with 18 points apiece, 4 while Glen Vortman tossed in 16.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Racing Board delayed action on Arlington Park's request for night thoroughbred racing Saturday.

The board set Jan. 6 for continuance of hearings from citizens of Arlington Heights, a northwestern suburb of 57,000 population, and from harness racing representatives.

Arlington Park seeks permission to run 50 per cent of its allotted 103-day program under lights in 1968. If granted, it would become the nation's first major track to conduct night time thoroughbred racing.

The board heard pleas from harness racing representatives and several citizens of Arlington Heights.

Jack Siegel, the suburb's attorney, said that a number of objections have been made by townspeople living near the track. He asked for time to make a study of the impact of night racing in the area.

PRINCIPAL BLASTED ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — Concoria, led by the explosive play of Roger Burghors, smashed Principia 107-71 Saturday night in a nonconference basketball game.

Burghors racked up 21 points while playing only the game's first half.

Middles clash. Reserve Marches Team Young O'Toole, pinpointing his passes and mixing his plays well to upset the Navy defense, took Army 52 yards for a touchdown, but failed on an attempt for a two-point conversion.

Moments later, Army had the ball again at its own 48 and on second down O'Toole, well protected, rifled a long spiraling pass to end Gary Steele, who had outdistanced the Middle defenders to catch it over his shoulder and race for the second Cadet touchdown.

This time the two-point try was good when O'Toole hit Hank Andrzejczak in the end zone with a pass.

Then came Navy's short kick, an 11-yarder, which gave Army its last gasp before the big save by DeCaro.

Bradley Breezes

To 79-71 Margin

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Bradley opened its basketball campaign with an 87-71 victory over St. Cloud Saturday night in a ragged contest.

The Braves found the visitors tenacious during the first eight minutes as the score was tied six times. However, Bradley came to stay 20-19 when L. C. Bowen broke the final tie on a free throw at 20-19.

Bradley boosted the lead at halftime to 39-28 and led by 20 points through most of the second half. The Braves' biggest lead was 85-63 with 2 1/2 minutes to play.

Joe Allen led the visitors with 20 points. Bowen pitched in with 25 and Al Smith added 20. Terrence Porter topped St. Cloud with 26. Tom Ditty was No. 2 scorer for St. Cloud with 10.

The loss was the second for St. Cloud in six games.

75-57 Opener

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Six-foot-eight Dave Scholz scored 37 points Saturday night as he led Illinois over Butler 75-57 in the season opener for both teams.

Scholz, who hit 20 points in the first half, helped the Illini vault from a 37-34 halftime edge to a 54-40 lead midway in the second half.

The Bulldogs narrowed the gap briefly but Illinois put on a 10-point run and won going away.

Doug Waininger topped Butler with 15 points.

Kolb Paces Clan Past Leathernecks

MACOMB—Marc Kolb pumped in 28 points to lead MacMurray to a 92-80 season-opening victory over Western Illinois University here Friday night.

The lead in the game exchanged hands numerous times in the first 30 minutes of play. The Highlanders held a one-point lead, 44-43, at intermission.

With about 10 minutes left to play, the MacMurray press began to take hold, and Western's floor mistakes were turned into MacMurray points.

The Highlanders pulled away and were never seriously threatened again.

Kolb, as well as being the game high scorer, pulled down 14 rebounds for tops in that department. Denny Desmond chipped in 13 points, and Steve Sherrill added 12 points to the MacMurray cause.

Western Illinois was led in point production by Braun with 25 markers. Both he and Paul Reuschel pulled down 12 rebounds to lead the Leathernecks.

The Highlanders converted 47 per cent of their floor shots and PALMYRA — Randy Ralston led Northwestern with 17 points to a 55-42 triumph over ISD, here Friday evening.

The game was decided at the free throw line, the Wildcats sinking 15 free throws while the Tigers netted only four. Free shots played the big factor in the final quarter, in which Northwestern distanced ISD by ten points, 25-15.

Larry Anderson and Ed Scroggins were also big scorers for the Wildcats, getting 14 and ten points respectively. Terry Storey and Steve Baker hit in double figures for ISD. Storey getting 17 and Baker ten.

Carrollton Rips Cold Routt, 58-31

By TOM GIFFEN

Carrollton's Hawks took advantage of Routt's cold shooting Friday night, scoring a 58-31 victory over the Rockets on the loser's floor.

The Rockets, in their opening contest of 1967, were unable to score a bucket from the field in the second period and could manage only one in the fourth stanza.

The Hawks, however, meshed the nets for 11 field goals in 15 tries in the second period and pulled away to a 30-10 halftime lead. Carrollton hit 45.4 per cent from the floor, hitting on 24 of 53 shots.

Routt could only manage a meager 19.5 per cent on 11 of 56 shots.

Carrollton placed four starters in double figures and controlled both the offensive and defensive boards with 54 rebounds.

While neither team could score in the first 2:10 of the first period, Routt jumped off to a 6-2 lead. Carrollton held a one-point margin going into the second quarter on the strength of two Mark Frech jump shots.

Disaster then struck the Rockets as they were unable to score until Mike Costa sank a charity toss with 1:12 left to play in the first half. Rich Stendeback, Ron Stuart and Frech led the Hawks' second stanza surge with six, seven and six points, respectively.

Even Third Period

The scoring in the third period was almost even with Carrollton coming out on top by two, 17-15. Dave Ryan paced the Rockets in their best period with five points. Don Fuchs and Jim Kaiser each had four.

Routt, warming up after intermission, hit on seven of 16 shots in the third eight-minute quarter.

The freeze hit Routt once again in the final period as the Rockets sank one of 16 shots. Fuchs made the first and only bucket of the period with 4:20 left in the game.

The Hawks could only manage three of 15 in the final period, but it was enough to keep ahead of the cold Rockets.

Frech was the game high scorer with 14 points. Stuart, Stendeback and Tim Moulton chipped in 13, 11 and 10 points, respectively. Stuart was the high rebounder for the Hawks with 15.

Fuchs led Routt with 11 points. Ryan was high in rebounding with 10 of the Rockets' 31.

Carrollton controlled the offensive boards 18-11 and the defensive boards 36-20. Both teams made 17 floor mistakes.

The game, relatively free of fouls, saw the Hawks hit 10 of 15 attempts for a shooting percentage of 67, and Routt hit nine of 17 for 53 per cent.

Carrollton is now 2-0 for the year.

IBA TO COACH U.S. OLYMPIC CAGE TEAM
NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Iba, veteran Oklahoma State basketball coach, again will direct the United States Olympic team in the 1968 games at Mexico City.

Ben Carnevale, chairman of the basketball committee, announced Iba's selection Monday.

Iba, who coached the United States team to a gold medal at the 1964 games in Tokyo, is the first to direct the U.S. team in two straight Olympics.

$5,350,000 Price Tag Is Stuck On Two Franchises

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Seattle and Kansas City, the American League's 1969 expansion franchises, will pay $5,350,000 apiece for membership and 30 major league players, it was announced late Friday at baseball's winter meeting.

The new clubs will draft three players from each of the existing 10 clubs at a cost of $175,000 per-man. They also will be required to post membership fees of $100,000 apiece.

In addition, the American League announced the expansion clubs must make payments into the player pension fund, matching amounts currently paid by the existing clubs. Those payments likely will boost the over-all admission expenses close to the $6 million mark.

Middle guard Jim Pritchett and defensive tackle Chuck Andrews, members of Western Michigan's football team, were star shot putters in high school.

Water Johnson holds the American League record for pitchers leading the circuit in strikeouts. He was the whiff king in 12 years between 1919 and 1930.

Adult Education Classes Planned For Jacksonville

An adult education class in radio communications as well as driver education will be offered by School District 117 starting this week.

The radio communication course will cover the basic theories and practices of electronics as they apply to the transmission and reception of radio signals.

The course is designed for those people who have had no formal training in electronics but have an interest in the area of electronics dealing with communications.

Rich East High Wins 2nd Bryan Prep Debate Title

Robb Flint and Rick Springwater of Rich East High School in Park Forest, Ill., captured the first-place trophy for championship cross-examination debate Saturday evening to conclude the two-day William J. Bryan Invitational Debate tournament for high schools. The tournament, sponsored for the second year by the Pi Kappa Delta forensic fraternity chapter on the Illinois College campus, began Friday afternoon.

Pam Antrim and Kathy Best of Richwoods Community High School in Peoria, Ill., were awarded the first-place trophy for the varsity division in the tournament.

The schools represented by participating debaters were: Forest View High School of Arlington Heights, Griffith High School of Springfield, Ottawa Township High School of Ottawa, Rich East High School of Park Forest, Richwoods Community High School of Peoria, Southeast High School of Springfield, and University High School of Normal.

The tournament featured two divisions: one in cross-examination debate with switch sides, and the other as varsity division. Each division had two rounds Friday, and on Saturday cross-examination had two rounds and varsity had three rounds.

Roger Farrington, a junior from Pittsfield, Ill., majoring in history and government, was the tournament director. Raymond A. Ford, associate professor of speech and director of forensics at Illinois College, was the faculty supervisor and was master of ceremonies at a special luncheon Saturday noon.

Tournament office assistants were Barbara Wahl, sophomore from Cahokia, Ill.; Barbara Rohde, senior from Chicago; Fred Roese, sophomore from Springfield, Ill.; and Robert Bellatti, sophomore from Jacksonville. Judging assistants were Robert Tucker, junior from Mt. Sterling, Ill.; and Jon Hapke and Robert Zeigler, both from Jacksonville.

The tournament is named for the late William Jennings Bryan, lawyer, congressman, U.S. secretary of state, and three-time Democratic nominee for the U.S. presidency around the turn of the century. He was born in Salem, Ill., and was awarded degrees from Illinois College in 1881, 1884, and 1905.

Two Enrolled In Job Corps

JERSEYVILLE — Two 16-year-old Jerseyville youths were sworn into the Job Corps Tuesday morning by Judge Howard Lee White. The youths are Terry McFain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell McFain and Fred Henson, son of Mrs. Jerome Breitweiser.

The two will report to Lyckick Lake near Cass Lake, Minnesota for heavy equipment training. They were recruited through the local Rural Resource Center in charge of R. D. Edwards.

The first Jersey county resident to enter the Job Corps was Larry Osburn, who graduated recently at Camp Breckenridge, Kentucky, where he trained in landscape gardening and nursery work.

Osburn reported Dec. 1 for duty with the United States Navy.

Storm Catches Area Off-Guard Saturday, Even Weatherman

The weatherman's face was probably as red as the faces of area residents who weathered a sudden and unexpected, wind-whipped snow storm that hit Jacksonville early Saturday evening.

As though Old Man Winter was tuning up for a preview of coming attractions, the storm, which left three inches of snow in the area, confused motorists, tangled power lines and knocked out some telephone service.

Several traffic accidents were reported in the city, most of which involved nothing more than crumpled bumpers. A four-year-old route three youth sustained a minor injury when the car in which he was a passenger collided with a snow plow near Orleans on U.S. 36-54.

The storm, which started with rain about noon, turned to wet and heavy snowflakes shortly after four o'clock and intensified about an hour later.

Slacked-Off — The storm slacked off about 7:30 p.m. and the snow dwindled a half an hour later, as residents began to fight the snow-clogged streets and highways.

Although state highway department personnel were notified about 11:30 a.m., that the storm was coming, the government weather service from St. Louis gave no warning until the 4:15 p.m. report.

All 33 state highway workers were called into action in Morgan, Scott and Cass counties.

State police said late Saturday night, that unless there was a warming trend Sunday, roads in the area would continue to remain hazardous to motorists.

During the height of the storm, eastbound motorists were caught in a bottleneck east of the city on U.S. 36-54 near the Oaklawn sanatorium when the slippery highway made it almost impossible to overcome the slight incline.

State police said that somehow, the only traffic mishaps, with one exception, involved single cars which were unable to stay on the snow-covered roads, and slid into ditches.

Cuts Tongue — Four-year old Richard Trent, son of Mrs. Charlotte Trent of route three, sustained a tongue laceration when the car, driven by his mother, collided with a snow plow east of Orleans about seven o'clock on U.S. 36-54.

The Trent car collided with a snowplow operated by Everett Baptist, 40, of Jacksonville.

State police said that the centerline and edge of the road were obscured by the snow.

Another passenger in the Trent auto, Cindy, age one, escaped injury.

Three cars were damaged shortly after four o'clock at the intersection of Morton and Hardin.

Police said a car driven by Paul I. Fry of 211 Allen was northbound on Hardin and proceeded across the Morton intersection and was struck by a westbound unit, driven by Ronald E. Dodge of route one, Winchester.

The Dodge auto was then knocked into a unit driven by Kenyon R. Bowman of Waverly, which was stopped at the intersection.

Minutes later, in the snow storm, two cars were damaged in the 100 block of East State when a parked car, owned by Julia McKinney of 544 Brooklyn was struck by an eastbound unit, driven by Robert L. Six of 709 Sheridan.

Another parked car, owned by Dewey Seiber of 619 West College, properly parked in front of 304 South Prairie was damaged about 6:30 p.m. when it was struck by a Friendly Cab driven by Larry E. Ames of 1304 South East street.

A local woman, Mable Selby of 134 Prospect sustained a facial laceration as a result of an accident in the 300 block of North Prairie shortly after eight o'clock.

The Selby auto slid out of control and struck a parked vehicle, owned by Dale Anderson of 311 North Prairie. The Selby woman was taken to Passavant hospital where she was treated and released.

Hayter To Lead Local Symphony Rest Of Season

John E. Hayter, the orchestra director at Jacksonville High School and Jonathan Turner Junior High School, has been appointed the conductor of the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra for the second half of the 1967-68 season. It has been announced by Symphony Society president Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach.

John E. Hayter

The present conductor, who has been on the podium since 1963 when the Orchestra was founded, Dr. Henry E. # Altorfer Tosses Hat Into Statewide Race

CHICAGO (AP)—John Henry Altorfer of Peoria made his official announcement Saturday that he will seek the Republican nomination for governor.

The 47-year-old head of a big industrial park was the first to step into the gubernatorial ring. But he soon will have company.

Altorfer, at a news conference, listed three possible competitors in the June primary—Richard B. Ogilvie, president of the Cook County Board; State Sen. Arthur Gottschalk of Plossmoor; and former Gov. William G. Stratton.

Ogilvie is scheduled to make an announcement Dec. 6.

Altorfer, a well-set, affable man, said there is waste and inefficiency in the state government's executive branch, and he pledged to eliminate it.

He also contended there are too many governmental agencies for a streamlined operation.

Altorfer stated Illinois has moved at a "snail's pace" in the last seven years under Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner. He said he hopes to bring about improvement with sound, workable programs.

The state's major problems, as he viewed them, are increases in spending and crime, deterioration of highways, housing and water and air pollution.

Altorfer is president of the Pioneer Industrial park in Peoria, ranked as the largest private development of its kind in the Midwest outside of the Chicago area. More than 50 firms have located there.

He made his first bid for a statewide political office in 1964. He won the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in a seven-man primary contest, but lost to Democratic Samuel Shapiro in the general election by 300,199 votes. Altorfer carried 52 of the state's 102 counties but lost Cook County, the Democratic citadel, by 394,659 votes.

Altorfer served two years as president of the Peoria Association of Commerce. He is a member and ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Peoria. He went to Peoria Central High School, was graduated from Dartmouth College and served in the Navy for three years during World War II.

Report Third Break-In Within Three Day Period — The third break-in to occur in Roodhouse within as many days was reported to Greene County Sheriff Donald Vinyard Friday.

The most recent burglary took place late Thursday or early Friday at the Hagen-Henry Feed as well as Illinois. He also has been a church choir director.

A native of Missouri, he was born at Warsaw, Mo., at the family home which his grandfather purchased from the government before statehood. His parents still live there.

Authorities said entrance was gained through a warehouse door which had been forced.

The Hagen-Henry firm is located on Ill. 267 at the south edge of Roodhouse, the same general area in which two other burglaries took place earlier in the week.

Reported Tuesday were break-ins at the Monsanto Agricultural Center and the Mid-State Aluminum Manufacturing company.
